TOLL CLIMBS TO 355—Rescue workers pull a woman from a collapsed house in Rio de Janeiro as reports today said the death toll in the Rio disaster climbed to 355. Many more bodies were believed still buried in the mud and debris left in the wake of the worst rains in the city's 400-year history. A total of 185 deaths were confirmed in the city and another 170 in Rio de Janeiro state, including 100 in the mountain resort of Petropolis, 26 miles north of the city. Many more also were feared dead in isolated areas. Meanwhile, authorities estimated today at least 4,000 were homeless in the city and another 10,000 in the state. U.S. officials were doing their part to ease the suffering. Nearly 50 U.S. Peace Corps volunteers were helping in rescue work while the U.S. Embassy said more than 60 tons of foodstuffs were distributed to the victims. (NEA Radio-Telephoto)

Few Will Oppose Restoring Tax: LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he detects "a minimum of opposition" to his proposal to restore excise tax cuts on cars and phone bills.

"I think most of the legislators would prefer receiving revenues in this form than revenues in new taxes on corporations and individuals," Johnson told a news conference at the White House Thursday.

Sounded Out Sentiment
Amid a burst of criticism from congressmen over his tax proposals announced in Wednesday night's State of the Union message, Johnson said he had sounded out sentiment in advance and "I did not detect overwhelming resistance to it."

He said he believed that "most of the people are patriotic" and would be willing to give up reductions in the taxes, which took effect Jan. 1, to finance additional military costs stemming from the Viet Nam war.

In other major topics covered at the news conference, Johnson said:

— He will appoint Robert C. Weaver as secretary of the new Department of Housing and Urban Development and Robert C. Wood as undersecretary. Weaver would be the first Negro member of the Cabinet.

Incidents Drop Off
— "The number of incidents" in Viet Nam has "dropped off some." But he added: "I don't say there is any connection with that and our peace moves."

U.S. envoys will continue to visit foreign capitals in the search for peace, he said.

— He is "disturbed" that the New York City transit strike lasted so long and "I am equally concerned by the cost of our national guideposts for non-inflationary wage increases."

— Reaction to the State of the Union message was "very good" and "I was very pleased with it."

He feels "fine" three months after his gall bladder operation.

He has no foreign travel plans now.

Speed Up Collections
Besides rescinding the two excise tax reductions, the administration's tax package includes a speed-up in corporate tax collections and a graduated withholding plan under which taxpayers in higher brackets would pay more as they go along and less at the end of the year.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler formally submitted the tax package to Congress Thursday night and estimated additional revenues from it at $4.8 billion in the fiscal year 1967.

No Locale Given
The governor did not say where the new institution would be situated.

Other requests include: —The addition of 50 new investigators to the Bureau of Criminal Investigation of the State Police.

Esopus to Hire Planners; Appoint Town's Officials

The selection of a professional planning consultant for the Town of Esopus and the announcement of the annual appointments of local officials were the principal items of business at the monthly meeting of Esopus Town Board this week.

The planning firm of Raymond and May Associates, White Plains, was proposed by the Town Planning Board to be engaged as a planning consultant for the Township, and the recommendation was unanimously approved by the Town Board.

The Raymond and May firm was one of three professional planners that had previously been interviewed by the Town Planning Board. The firm has had extensive planning experience, including the planning for Kingston's urban renewal projects.

The Town of Esopus plans to participate in the State's "701 Program" of planning assistance to local municipalities. Under the program, the state will provide five-sixths of the funds required and the township will provide the remaining one-sixth. The selection of a planning consultant is one of the first steps in the implementation of a local program.

It was also announced that William Daum, Union Center, chairman of the Town of Esopus Planning Board since its inception in 1963 and whose term had expired Dec. 31, had requested he not be reappointed to (Continued on Page 8, Col. 2)

Supervisors Adopt Contracts For First Phase College Work No Vote by Williams, Charges Unfairness

By a vote of 31 to 1, with Supervisor John C. Sangaline (R), third ward absent, the Board of Supervisors Thursday night authorized the chairman of the board to enter into contracts with the low bidders for construction of the first four buildings on the Ulster Community College campus at Stone Ridge.

The total amount of the contracts for the four buildings is $1,659,980.

There was considerable discussion over various cost items, particularly the $190,000 for site development to date and an item of $150,000 for future site development. Several supervisors argued that there had been no breakdown of the $190,000 spent for site development and they lacked information as to what the money had been spent for.

Supervisor Peter Williams (R), Saugerties, voted against awarding the contracts, not because he was "opposed to education," but because he said he wanted to be consistent in opposing the Stone Ridge site for the college over a site offered in his town of Saugerties.

Williams pointed out that land had been offered in the town of Saugerties that there existed roads, water and available sewage disposal facilities as well as a million dollar mansion while at the Stone Ridge site he said large sums had to be spent for roads, water supply and sewage affluent would have to be pumped 2,500 feet because the nature of the soil at the site did not allow for percolation. Williams said they had gone over the site and had been unable to find any soil which was suitable. He also said at the Saugerties site ample water supply was available. At the Stone Ridge site he said one well with a capacity of 15 gallons a minute had been drilled, perhaps sufficient for present use but a second well would have to be drilled.

He said it would be necessary to spend $200,000 for roads at Stone Ridge while at Saugerties roads existed. Also at Stone Ridge there exists a parcel of land in the center of the college premises which, Williams said, would have to be bought at the seller's price or "the people can put up anything they want within 10 feet of the buildings."

Asks for Explanation
Williams said he wanted to be enlightened in regard to the spending of the $190,000 for site development, just what it was for and he also inquired into the matter of the appropriation. He said the original appropriation, a $1,400,000 bond authorization, has been approved. He inquired as to matching funds and asked for an explanation of why the cost now was $1,659,980 for construction and the estimated cost totaled $2,463,108. His contention was that had the Saugerties site been selected the cost of the project would have been much less. He charged "unfairness on the part of the committee."

Majority Leader Peter Savago (R), New Paltz, said the topic of the meeting was acceptance of the bids. Savago said the site had been agreed upon by the trustees of the college, whose right it was to select a site, and the purpose of the present meeting was to vote on the question of awarding contracts.

George Majestic (D), Gardiner, also questioned the $190,000 for site development. He said the board members were "entitled to know" what the money was spent for and he questioned as to who had drawn up the contract for awarding the construction contracts.

Majority Leader Savago replied the county attorney had drawn up the contracts.

Fees Also Questioned
An item of $23,000 listed as "fees" was also questioned and Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle (R), 12th ward, said it was for engineering by Brininger and Larjos.

Referring to a gift of $150,000 from former college trustee Macdonald DeWitt, Williams said the money had been given for "any type of building" but was changed later to go toward a library building.

Supervisor James A. Rapp (R), first ward, took exception to this statement.

"Mr. DeWitt never indicated how his money was to be spent," (Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

Lindsay Defends Package; Inflationary: President

NEW YORK (AP) — The wage package that got New York's transit system back on the track is described by President Johnson as inflationary, but Mayor John V. Lindsay says settlement of the strike was in the public interest.

Johnson criticized the settlement as exceeding the voluntary national wage-price guidelines recommended by government economic advisers to prevent an inflationary spiral.

"I do not believe that any settlement that violates the guidelines to this extent is in the national interest," he said at a news conference Thursday in Washington.

Mayor Lindsay—the man who had been in the middle during the 12-day bus and subway strike that ended Thursday—said things differently, however.

"I suppose people will argue and debate as to whether the settlement was too high or too low," Lindsay said even before Johnson spoke. "The agreement was best for the workers, the Transit Authority, the city and the country."

He said it "obviously serves the public interest."

Then, in response to Johnson's denunciation of the contract terms, Lindsay issued this statement:

"The chairman of the mediation panel, Dr. Nathan Feinsinger, prepared a memorandum at the time the panel recommended the settlement to the parties. The memorandum stated the settlement was within the guidelines."

"Under all the circumstances, the mediation panel having arrived at a firm recommendation, and the chairman having stated that it was within the guidelines, the Transit Authority had no choice but to accept."

Cong Action Ebbs, Rusk Due Saturday

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong activity continued on a reduced scale today. Mishaps dogged American forces, but the South Vietnamese reported some successes.

Government militiamen killed 40 Communists in beating off an attack on an outpost near the provincial capital of Quang Ngai, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, scene of repeated Communist thrusts.

Casualties Light
Casualties among the 100 defenders were reported light.

Two U.S. planes — a two-engine C-123 flare ship and an Air Force single-seat Skyraider — collided in the air on an operation in support of Korean ground troops 15 miles northwest of Qui Nhon on the central coast. All seven men on board were killed.

The Skyraider crashed into the bigger plane from underneath after pulling out of a strike, a spokesman said.

Other mishaps plagued the U.S. Marines in the Da Nang area, resulting in U.S. and Vietnamese casualties.

Ask Police Probe Of Blaze; Home Is Swept Again

One of several fires in recent months, believed deliberately set, damaged a First Avenue house shortly after midnight, and another later this morning of unknown origin, swept through a West Pierpont Street house.

Damaged for the second time within two years was the three-story, vacant brick house at 295 First Avenue owned by Third Ward Alderman John J. Naccarato, of 75 Derrenbacher Street.

Police were asked to investigate. Another recent fire said to be incendiary damaged a vacant house at 166 Murray Street.

Is Badly Damaged
The other fire this morning badly damaged a one-story frame house at 146 West Pierpont Street, owned by William Brodhead, of 41 Gage Street and occupied by Raymond Williams. No one was at home when the fire was discovered.

KTF Announces Feb. 1 Stoppage at Meeting Other Faculty Organization Says Federation Represents Minority

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.
Freeman Staff Writer

Charging that the "work stoppage" or strike scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 1 by Kingston Teachers' Federation, Local 781 of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, is "an illegal act," the Board of Education contemplates immediate court action in an attempt to head off the strike.

Arthur H. Withall, board president, said today that the Board of Education "will use all means available to it to keep the Kingston Schools in operation."

Howard O. Rust, president of the KTF, served notice on the Board at the close of a special meeting Thursday night that teachers will withhold all services starting Feb. 1, in accordance with a resolution passed Wednesday afternoon by the KTF membership.

Rust said that the scheduled strike is a protest against the rejection by the Board of Education of the Federation's requests in the last two years for a secret ballot election to determine which teachers' group, if any, would represent all teachers in the Kingston schools for the purpose of collective bargaining.

Represents Minority
Louis A. Salzman, president of the Kingston Teachers' Association, in a statement today emphasized that the KTA is opposed to strikes by teachers, and he charged that the KTF represents the minority group of the professional staff in the Kingston school system.

Chairman Withall said that the Board will meet in special session this afternoon with school attorneys to discuss immediate action in an effort to head off the planned strike called for Feb. 1. Withall said application for a court injunction to bar the strike plans is a possibility along with other suggested action.

Indications are that the Board will map its future action around the Condon-Wadlin Law.

The KTF voted by a 2 to 1 margin on Wednesday to strike, it was made known after Rust served notice on the Board president and its members at the close of a special meeting Thursday night, called for the purpose of discussing the recently adopted Teacher-Board Liaison Plan, part of which was amended last night.

To Meet Saturday
The KTF has set up a strike committee with headquarters in Room 216 at the Stuyvesant Hotel, and the first strike organizational meeting is planned for 10 a. m. Saturday.

KTF spokesmen said plans are being formulated to set up picket lines.

W. Wendell Hoover, clerk of the Board of Education, this morning released a statement on behalf of board members. It read:

"At a meeting on Thursday Jan. 13 which was called by the Kingston Board of Education to discuss the recently adopted Teacher-Board Liaison Plan, several amendments to the plan were made after suggestions by teachers present. A secret ballot election to choose delegates who will serve on the teachers' committee will be held in each school building in the district on Monday, Jan. 31, 1966."

"The first meeting of the delegates with the Board and the superintendents will be held on February 9 in the George Washington School."

Served Notice
"At the close of Thursday's meeting, Howard Rust, president of the Kingston Teachers' Federation, served notice on the Board that, pursuant to a ma-

Deadline Is Extended on Apport Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Court of Appeals today postponed from Feb. 1 to Feb. 15 the deadline by which the Legislature has been ordered to come up with a new redistricting plan for itself.

Question Not Resolved
The court did not resolve, however, the basic question raised in an appeal Wednesday — whether the state's courts had power to direct the Legislature, a co-equal branch of government, to perform a specific action.

Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond said a decision on that question would be handed down Feb. 14.

Counsels for the opposing parties were directed to appear before the court at 2 p. m. that day.

Justice Gerald P. Culkin of State Supreme Court had set the Feb. 1 deadline. He said that, if the Legislature did not act by then, he would take over the job of reapportionment himself.

Authority Questioned
Republican state officials and legislative leaders argued in the appeal that Culkin had no authority either to set a deadline or draft a plan himself.

Democratic legislative leaders, who had sought court intervention, argued in favor of Culkin's action.

The delay ordered by the Court of Appeals will give the new Legislature an additional two weeks to work out a compromise approach to a reapportionment plan for the 1966 state election.

The Ulster County Agricultural Society Fair will be held in Kingston this year. The dates will be Wednesday and Thursday, August 17 and 18, and the fair will be held as in years past at Forsyth Park off Lucas Avenue.

Decision to hold the annual Agricultural fair in Kingston was reached at a meeting of the Ulster County Agricultural Society officials at the offices of the Ulster County Extension Service, 74 John Street.

President Chester C. DuMond Jr., of Ulster Park, presided at the session.

Police said the men may have planned to ask $2 million in ransom.

The deaths added three weeks to the tipster disclosed that the intended victim was Firestone, the handsome son of rubber empire founder Harvey S. Firestone.

"I was very much disturbed and concerned," said the industrialist. "I just made up my mind that I would try to work with the police as best I could."

Hankins advised him to leave his home on Alpine Drive, a tree-shaded street where millionaires live amid movie stars. Police officers moved in, along with a policeman who acted as a domestic to answer the door and phone.

Student Teachers Join Faculty of Central School

NEW PALTZ — New Paltz High School welcomed eight new student teachers from State University College, New Paltz, who will be working with the faculty for the winter quarter.

Robert Faigle is a native of Yonkers, where he attended the public schools and was active in sports and extracurricular activities. His activities at State University College have led to his acceptance as a member of Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. Faigle is interested in sports as well as his major subject, history. He is working with Bert King.

Curtis Hennig comes to New Paltz from Long Island. He graduated from the State Agricultural and Technical College at Farmingdale in 1963 with an associate degree in chemical technology. He worked with Fairchild Space and Defense Systems for one year as a junior chemist. He is majoring in biology. He is working with Mrs. Betty Martin.

Richard Niemann from the Bronx, is majoring in secondary social studies and working with Robert Bennett at New Paltz High School. At State University College, he is a member of APO, the honorary dramatics fraternity, and has been in every major production at the college since 1962.

Ronald Noelle received his Associate of Arts Degree from Nassau College in 1963 and will receive his Bachelor's Degree from State University College in March. He started rifle clubs in both colleges he attended and participated in the college intramural program. He is working with Joseph DiBlanca.

Martha Nye is from Lyons Falls. She is a senior at State University College majoring in secondary social studies. She is working with Mr. Frawley at New Paltz High School.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pearl graduated from Abraham Lincoln High School, Brooklyn. She is majoring in art with a special interest in the field of painting. She plans to do graduate work in art history. At New Paltz High School, she is working with Clyde Allen.

John Rhodes, a native of Jericho, L. I., graduated from Nassau Community College in 1964. He is interested in football as well as his major subject, mathematics. He is working with Dominick DiCapus.

Olga Vetter is a student teacher in French, working with Mrs. Eileen Faulkner.

Ceramics Course To Be Offered in Adult Education

Theodore Sirko, director of adult education at the New Paltz Central School, has announced plans for a ceramics course to be offered as part of the adult education program this semester.

The course consists of an introduction to clay as a sculptural medium, an exploration of various ceramic techniques and an acquaintanceship with the products of ceramic technique, both aesthetic and functional.

Students will learn to model with clay and to make pottery with the pinch, coil, and slab methods. A portion of the course is devoted to practice in the use of the potter's wheel.

Frank Wright will teach the course. Wright is an art teacher at the New Paltz Central School and is a graduate of the State University College, New Paltz where he studied with Kenneth Green. He has also worked in the studio of Louis Mendez. Wright's work has been exhibited in several galleries and museums throughout the state.

Interested adults may contact the director of adult education. The class will meet Mondays from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Honor Society Dinner

The New Paltz Chapter of the National Honorary Society will have a spaghetti dinner Sat., Feb. 5 at 6 p. m. in the Central School cafeteria.

There are only 150 tickets available. They may be purchased from any of the Honor Society members or Thomas Benenati. The proceeds from this dinner will go towards the annual scholarship awarded by the Honor Society at graduation.

New School Flag

The new school flag for the New Paltz Central School was first presented at the basketball game with Highland Friday. "New Paltz Huguenots" and the Huguenot stone are in white on a field of maroon. The flag was designed and purchased by the Student Council.

Expert Figured Play Too Well

BY JACOB & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is a hand from the International team trials that shows that experts don't always make as many tricks as ordinary players. Practically every South player reached the spade game even though the play for it is less than a 50 per cent chance. The trials were scored on International Match Points and that scoring method encourages the bidding of doubtful game contracts.

The ordinary player would not like his contract but he would make it because both the king and queen of clubs are located in the East hand. Now let's see how one expert managed to go down.

He won the king of diamonds lead with the ace, promptly led a spade and finessed dummy's eight. East was in with the king and returned the three of diamonds. West won this trick with the queen and led the queen of hearts, whereupon South took dummy's ace and king of hearts and got back to his hand by ruffing a third heart.

Then South led a spade and finessed dummy's jack. East showed out and South proceeded to count the hand and concluded that West had probably started with exactly two clubs. South played the jack of clubs from dummy. East covered with the king, and South won with the ace as West dropped the eight.

Now South led another trump to dummy's ace and played a second club. East played low and South had to decide whether West's remaining club was the queen or the nine. He decided wrong and played a low club, whereupon West won the trick with the nine. South still had to lose to the queen of clubs and was one down.

Syracuse Church Is Damaged by Blaze

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Fire officials here said today that arson or children playing with candles could have caused a fire Thursday that resulted in an estimated $200,000 damage to St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church.

Officials said they believe the fire started in a confessional in the 94-year-old landmark on this city's east side.

The fire, which erupted about 3 p.m., was under control within minutes.

Fireman Robert Dugan was overcome by smoke as he rushed into the structure but was revived. Other firemen carried out religious objects.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Eve Arden, a durable comedienne, who can do wonders even with a commonplace line, made one of her rare television appearances Thursday night.

She played a maternity floor nurse brightening up considerably the long-awaited episode of "Bewitched" in which the witch-heroine and her mortal spouse finally had the baby, a girl.

Flooded With Memories

But all through the half-hour show, which was almost completely given over to camera tricks making people appear and disappear, this viewer was flooded with fond memories of Miss Arden's old "Our Miss Brooks" series.

Ah, those were the days. Miss Arden was just a teacher, usually tired and frustrated. Nobody was endowed with supernatural powers. Nobody was a secret agent. Even Jack Webb, who always got his man, was a simple fact-gathering cop. He didn't even have a red telephone with a direct connection to the chief, as does "Batman," whose hot line lights up when in use, and the conniving head of the U.S. Counterintelligence Service in another of ABC's new series.

The new entry is called "The Double Life of Henry Phylle," with small Red Buttons playing the part of a timid, mild accountant.

Henry Phylle, it seems, is the splitting image of the U-31, a master spy sent from an unidentified enemy country to destroy us. U-31 walked in front of a truck upon arrival and the counterintelligence fellows turned up Henry, his exact double.

The rest of the predictable episode followed poor Henry as he tried to avoid being a spy, nervously tried to escape the clutches of an overblown Mata Hari and, of course, rounded up the bad guys.

Filmsy Vehicle

It proved an extremely flimsy comedy vehicle, liberally laced with a boisterous laugh track which indeed proved invaluable for locating the funny stuff. Unfortunately it was no flimsier than many other comedy series this season. Obviously it is still another program custom-tailored to appeal to the very young audience.

Barbra Streisand's second CBS special has been set for March 30. It is called "Color Me Barbra" and will be a real challenge. Her first show received such critical raves and so many awards, it will be hard to equal its reception.

PUBLIC HEARING ON TAXES

The public will have an opportunity Tuesday evening to express its opinion on proposed new non-property taxes. The Common Council Finance Committee will present the proposals and conduct the public hearing at 7:30.

Public hearings are designed to obtain reactions of the people to propositions affecting them. Here is the place to voice your views on the additional taxes, which if enacted, will have to be paid by you.

As a starter, some of the new tax source possibilities mentioned were electricity, telephone, "sewer" based on water bills, and sales tax, higher parking meter rates and additional charges for delinquency in real estate tax payments.

Some of these tax proposals were considered during the previous administration of Mayor Schwenk, but they were defeated. New or additional taxes never prove popular for it is hardly to be expected that the majority of taxpayers will assent readily to additional taxes.

It should come as no surprise to anyone that if our police, firemen and other municipal employees are to receive more money, which they should, additional taxes must be imposed.

However, the imposition of taxes calls for prudence for there is always the possibility that increasing the tax burdens of city residents could have the effect of setting off a chain reaction for people to move to sections outside the corporate limits of the city in order to escape further taxes. This could result in diminished tax receipts, but the expenses of operating city government would not be reduced. The city maintains services which are of benefit to residents outside its limits.

A careful, thoughtful and forward-looking study of the tax burdens of the City of Kingston is needed, if there is to be a real escape from the city's perpetual tax dilemma and an equitable levy on all the taxpayers. Shifting taxes in all directions isn't the answer.

HINT OF LABOR SHORTAGE

There was a time, not very long ago, when news that unemployment had sunk to 4.1 per cent of the labor force would have been greeted joyously. It is a measure of our altered situation that just such an announcement has been greeted, not joyously, but with nervous misgivings about a possible labor shortage in the near future.

A labor shortage! It will take a considerable wrench to adjust to that idea after years of concern about persistent unemployment in a period of economic growth. Yet adjust we must. The demands of booming industry and business, coupled now with the prospect that steadily increasing numbers of young men will be gulped by the draft, are expected to intensify shortages already beginning to appear.

The lack of sufficient manpower is not yet general. Arthur M. Ross, the commissioner of labor statistics, speaks of "a mixture of emerging shortages in a few areas, occupations and industries; residual surpluses in others, and an approximate balance in the remainder." But it is evident that, after years of fretting about not enough jobs, we must now fret about not enough trained people to fill the jobs that are available.

HOLIDAY MEMORIES

The holidays are well past. A few vagrant pine needles show up now and then in unexpected places around the house, but on the whole the nation is back to normal and glad of it. What is left now, except for the bills, is memory.

Some of the memories are delightful. Some are amusing—in retrospect. Some touch a chord so deep that they will never be forgotten. Whatever they are, the influence on our lives should not be underestimated.

Memory put a tree in the living room. Few know or care how evergreens came to be linked with Christmas; they decorate them because they remember childhood delight in a similarly decked vision. They encourage the children to hang up their stockings for Santa to fill long after belief

THE STOIC AMERICANS

If anything is plain, it is that the big majority in the United States would like to make up its mind on the Vietnam situation without marchings and teach-ins and all the other hoopla that we have been witnessing over the past year. This, it must be said, goes for demonstrations by both the Left and the Right. The attempt of the Left to carry the country by storm toward a peace-at-any-price decision has failed to generate mass support. But the counter-movement sparked by such groups as Young Americans for Freedom has not brought out any huge crowds. A YAF gathering of 1,500, give or take a few scores, turned out to listen to Senator Karl Mundt the other week in Washington, and Tom Dodd Jr., the son of Senator Dodd, read a few words for his father. But the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans were conspicuous by their absence from a meeting that might have concerned most of them.

Where does all this leave the country? What it proves to me is that most people prefer to let courts, legislatures, the President, and the written word as reported in the press and over radio and TV, do their speaking for them. For, at the same time that YAF was finding it practically impossible to bring a big group to Washington, some 500,000 students in more than 300 colleges were signing a pledge to support President Johnson's promise to stand firm in Vietnam until peace can be had with honor. The willingness to stand up and be counted is there, but the average person doesn't want to be dramatic about it.

What all this should prove to the world is that Americans are willing to "do what it takes" to maintain their country's position as the big bulwark against Communism, but they want to approach the necessity of physical action to that end with a stoic mind.

The stoic spirit is actually reflected on the Left as well as on the Right. At the recent gathering of the New Left groups in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, the "moderates" rejected the counsels of the Far-Out Vietnam Day Committee of Berkeley, California, who preach instant withdrawal from Vietnam. The 38-to-25 vote against calling for immediate troop departure separated the pragmatists of the movement from the Maoists, the Trotskyites, and those who listen to the orthodox Communists. This doesn't mean that the Far-Out Left has been rendered toothless. But it does indicate that Lyndon Johnson, by his "peace offensive," had, at least for the moment, split the movement that was calling for his scalp just a few short weeks ago.

As this column is being written, the pause in the war continues. The same split among the "liberals" that was observable at the Milwaukee New Left meeting is disturbing the campaign in the Seventeenth District in New York for John Lindsay's old seat in Congress. The Democratic candidate, Orin Lehman, who has a great New York political name, would like to see the U.S. negotiate its way out of the Vietnam mess with honor. The Republican candidate, Theodore Kupferman, is actually to the Left of Lehman on the Vietnam issue. The Conservative Party, in nominating Jeffrey St. John, a radio-TV personality who has been trying to get something called Operation Asia off the ground to roll up support for a clear-cut victory over the Viet Cong, is trying to produce a definite statement of principle in a district that is probably far from representing a cross-section of America. If enough votes go to St. John to win for Lehman, it would mean that even in an unrepresentative urban neighborhood Johnson can carry the day for insisting on peace-with-honor in Asia.

Meanwhile, Sanford Gottlieb, Washington representative of SANE, is off to Algiers for reconciliation among people who might talk for Ho Chi Minh. Gottlieb speaks for the Non-Communist peace movement, and his trip could be regarded as being in tune with LBJ's recent spirit of permissiveness toward peace feelers of any kind. It's all a tangle. But one thing is certain: Johnson can't fight his war forever with only stoics to back him. There's got to be some movement one way or the other, and soon.

Qualified Operator Needed To Perform Electrolysis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is it safe to have hair removed from the face by electrolysis? What other methods are recommended?

A—Unwanted hair on the chin is seen in many women after the menopause. These are usually inconspicuous but some women are overly self-conscious about them. The removal of these hairs with an electric needle is safe in the hands of a qualified operator. This is the only method that gets rid of the hair permanently, but it is a tricky business because too little current will not kill the roots and the hair will grow again. On the other hand, too much current will cause scarring. This method requires several sittings and is not practical if the hair is to be removed from a large area. This is also the most expensive method.

Hair protruding from a mole should be removed only by cutting with scissors.

Other methods of removal include shaving, applying warm wax and removing it when it has cooled and hardened, chemical depilatories and abrasion with wet pumice. None of these methods will increase the coarseness of the hair or its rate of growth in spite of rumors to the contrary. Good results have also been obtained with short-wave diathermy.

Q—My husband has emphysema and I have chronic bronchitis. We have been using a humidifier in our bedroom but, since a dry climate is considered helpful in these conditions, I wonder whether the humidifier might be aggravating our problems.

A—The humidifier should help both of you. Although a dry climate may be helpful, the indoor air in a heated house is much too dry even for such respiratory diseases as you have. Even with the humidifier, it is hard to get the humidity in a heated room up to the recommended level for comfortable breathing.

Q—I have what my doctor calls a trigger finger. What causes it and what is the remedy, if any?

A—Snapping finger or trigger finger is caused by a thickening of one of the tendons of the affected finger or by a narrowing of the sheath in which the tendon slides. Closing the fist causes a snapping sound. The only treatment is an operation to increase the size of the tendon sheath, but this is not advised unless the condition is a source of great annoyance.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

in the jolly old codger has vanished up the chimney in a cloud of smoke, for they remember the fun of reaching shoulder deep into the toe of the stocking for the last small treasure.

Building memories is an important part of any family or any season. The child is underprivileged indeed, poorer than the poor, if he reaches adulthood without sentimental and happy memories of holidays. It doesn't take money to build memories, but it takes someone who cares—and a little time.

WASHINGTON (NEA)

President Johnson is bending all his accounting ingenuity, which is considerable, toward assuring the country it can have both guns and a large amount of butter in the next 18 months.

He has made it known within the White House and beyond that he does not intend to allow the Vietnamese war to force the dry-docking of Great Society programs barely launched in 1965.

To permit war spending to have such an impact would be in the view of one of his most trusted associates, to grant to the Republicans after-the-fact victories over his programs which they did not earn with their votes in Congress last year.

The President himself is known to regard any proposals for massive curtailment of Great Society undertakings as a threat to necessary national progress in education, health and scientific research, the uplift of the poor.

At the same time, faced with the uncertain size of the Vietnamese war should his peace initiatives fail, Johnson is said to feel he must postpone or cancel the spending of every dollar not required for adequate flotation of the Great Society in 1966-67.

WITH THIS OBJECTIVE, he is known to be engaged—right down to the budget message wire—in just about the fanciest bookkeeping footwork in his long career of intense familiarity with the federal budget.

Some programs, such as those involved in housing and other construction, will be delayed. Others will find their proposed new outlays thinned down, with a stretch-out of planned escalation.

The "war on poverty," for example, probably will not be figured for next year at much more than the $1.5 billion appropriated for the current fiscal year. The request was for more than double the present total, and poverty fighters' expectations ran high until recently.

Some top administration men are not unhappy at this enforced stretch-out, believing that the 1964-65 "poverty war" performance indicates larger sums would prove indigestible and possibly lead the program into far more confusion and controversy than it has already suffered.

Sharp pruning is planned in funds for the distressed areas of Appalachia, but an overbalancing offset is the anticipated additional outlay of some $400 million by the Defense Department in Appalachian states.

The President is said to consider this a perfect illustration of the way his Great Society goals can be pursued uninterruptedly by bringing off ingenious shifts in the budget pattern.

ANOTHER SUCH projected shift involves a severe cutback in a long established program—federal aid to schools in so-called "impacted" districts where U. S. installations have produced overcrowding.

This reduction, which in the end may run nearly to $400 million, will be balanced by going ahead full blast with the planned escalation under last year's broad aid-to-education programs.

The education package, plus research endeavors in health and general science, represent Great Society efforts the President is said to wish to keep intact on their rising expenditure course. To curtail them in their planned orbit, administration argue, would be to imperil the widened foundation of knowledge experience and training the country is expected to need as its population zooms and its economy soars steadily.

The President's economists have reportedly told him an anticipated climb this year in the U. S. gross national product to a record $720 billion or more should allow his debt budgetary footwork to pay off without unbearable deficit or the political millstone of new taxes.

For the moment, he is said to be cheerfully taking their word

Many Hard Facts Not Aired By LBJ in Talk to Congress

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—What President Johnson told the American people in his address to Congress Wednesday night was only part of the story that affects their pocketbooks and their future.

The omissions on some very important subjects can be enumerated as follows:

1. The President didn't tell why he wants to open up trade between the United States and Eastern Europe as well as the Soviet Union not withstanding the fact that Moscow government is supplying arms and ammunition to help kill American boys in Viet Nam.

2. The President didn't mention that the current budget ending June 30 of this year, will show a deficit of $6.4 billion, but said that the deficit in the budget which begins next July 1 and ends June 30, 1967, is expected to be what he describes as "one of the lowest in many years," or "only $1.8 billion." He didn't point out that these figures are, of course, based on estimates now as to what taxes will be collected. Mr. Johnson in January 1965 predicted a deficit of $5.3 billion in the budget for the current fiscal year, ending next June 30, but it now is official that the deficit will be $6.4 billion.

3. The President didn't tell the people what he meant when he said that "on a cash basis" the Federal budget next year "will actually show a surplus." He didn't explain that all the money received from Social Security, including a substantial increase in such taxes this year—should really be kept apart as a trust fund to pay benefits due taxpayers when they retire. But under the method of bookkeeping "on a cash basis" praised by the President in his message, a "surplus" will be constructed out of Social Security receipts. If the Social Security money were not applied in this way, of course, there would not be a surplus in the "cash budget" but a deficit of approximately a billion dollars.

4. The President didn't explain how it happens that the after-tax earnings of corporations for the past five years "have been up 65 per cent, and last year alone they had a rise of 20 per cent." He didn't mention that the total number of corporations in the United States increases with the population and that a numerical accumulation of profits does not tell the whole story. The significant fact happens to be that the rate of return on money invested is not up to what it was 15 years ago. It is the rate of return on money that really counts in measuring economic or financial progress.

5. The President didn't give the American people an explanation of what the effect will be of his proposal to make changes in the withholding system "so that Americans can more realistically pay-as-you-go." What it means is that a larger amount will be withheld from an employee's earnings and paid currently to the government, so that the take-home pay will be less for many individuals. Instead of the 14 per cent flat withholding rate now in effect, the new withholding rates are expected to range from 14 to 30 per cent.

6. The President didn't spell out what he meant when he said that he would ask Congress "to consider measures which, without improperly invading state and local authority, will enable us effectively to deal with strikes which threaten irreparable damage to the national interest." For he still wants to strengthen the power of unions, and he continues to insist that the 19 states which do not have compulsory unionization will have to give up the right to protect the freedom of an individual to get a job without sacrificing his disbelief in trade-unionism.

7. While the President spoke of the "instant urge toward nationalist independence" as being "the strongest force of today's world," he did not mention that the strongest force really is the subversion and infiltration by the Communists from the Soviet Union and Red China in every continent.

8. The President did not denounce the aggressive steps of both Red China and the Soviet Union throughout the world. While he declared that the United States does not intend to abandon Asia to conquest it is a fact that the Soviet conquest of Eastern Europe continues today without any significant protest on the part of the United States.

There are many other things dealt with in the President's speech on which the American people might well become informed. They will not do this through a reading of the Presidential message, which is confined to generalized statements, many of them ambiguous due to political expediency.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The lie detector lies. Its reliability matches some of the prisoners who take the test. The polygraph has no standing in court although thousands of such tests are made by police departments every year. Such examinations are challenged as accepted, the best the operator can tell the victim is "inconclusive."

The machine cannot acquit a prisoner, nor can it convict him. It was invented around 1920, and the premise which brought it into being is a valid one. That is, if a person tells a deliberate falsehood, he must have an inner physiological reaction. The difference in this reaction is what makes the machine unreliable.

A pathological liar can go through a crime to crime—confessing or denying—and show little or nothing abnormal on the polygraph. A mature person with good emotional control can fool the machine. The timid and the self-conscious may look guilty because of fear of the machine.

Mr. Bell P. Herndon of the F.B.I. office in Washington, D.C., is considered one of the best lie detector operators in the country. He was selected to go to Dallas to administer a polygraph test to Jack Ruby, the killer of Lee H. Oswald.

Ruby begged for the test. It was a pointless gesture for several reasons. Psychiatrists have found that Mr. Ruby is a paranoid, unbalanced by feelings of persecution. At times, he is out of touch with reality and admits that he is not sure whether, as a result of his crime, his family has been killed or not. And yet, from early afternoon until late in the evening, Jack Ruby tried hard to answer a series of questions calculated to find out if he devised and executed the shooting of Oswald alone; whether he had ever met and plotted with Oswald prior to the killing in the basement of Dallas Police Headquarters; and whether he was a Communist.

In spite of Ruby's attempt to overcooperate, and Bell Herndon's sympathetic manner of interrogating, the results are "inconclusive." They do not get Ruby off the hook; they do not deepen his involvement. The test was supervised by the Warren Commission, which made a noble and exhaustive effort to solve the riddle of President Kennedy's death.

Later, Herndon testified before the commission. In this, he revealed the weakness of the machine itself. "The polygraph instrument," he said, "is simply an instrument which is designed to record certain psychological responses under stimuli in a carefully controlled interrogation. These psychological responses may accompany and indicate deception. It is used primarily as an investigative aid by the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

The purpose of the lie detector, he added, was to record the breathing pattern of the individual; electrical skin response on fingers; and changes in heart beat and blood pressure. "Over the years, psychologists and physiologists have been aware of the fact that many people respond physiologically under emotional stress; one of course, being under a stress of deception."

"The more serious lie a person tells, quite frequently he is likely to have a physiological response. . . . There may be a choking up in the throat. They may become flushed in the face. The word 'may' runs through the testimony."

Mr. Herndon was asked about the reliability of the detector. There are no valid statistics with regards to its actual objective reliability, he said. The responses portrayed on the polygraph chart can be caused by things other than deception, such as fear, anxiety, nervousness, dislike and other emotions.

A polygraph examiner has to be extremely skilled and conservative in his estimation as to whether or not it is deception. Even when the subject is eager for the test, as in the case of Jack Ruby, the F.B.I. witness conceded that a simple crossing of the legs, or turning of the head could cause the machine to show an abnormal emotional response to a question. A cough or sneeze might also do it. So too could any distraction on the part of the subject during the examination.

It was the most complete assessment of the so-called lie detector and it ended up hidden in Volume 14 of the Warren Commission Report. The F.B.I. uses the gadget as an investigative aid only. It is possible that the wavering ink lines can indicate that a liar is telling the truth. The polygraph is a dangerous instrument in the wrong hands. It can and has frightened the innocent so that they appear to be guilty. It has exonerated the guilty and made wolves appear to be lambs.

Unreliability, which is what it is looking for, is the peculiar weakness of the machine itself. (Copyright, 1966, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Of New Job as London Bar Maid

By GRANVILLE J. WATTS

LONDON (AP) — Barmaid Carol Williamson poured a glass of beer behind the bar of a London pub and said: "My parents would never let me do this back in the states."

Carol, 23, a petite brunette, left her home in Rochester, N.Y., last October on a visit to Europe. After a month in France she came to London and got a job at the Red Lion, a large pub in the city's clerkenwell district.

Liked Accent

"We like her accent and she's picked this business up pretty quick," said one of the customers, a road worker.

Carol, who graduated in business administration at the University of Rochester, said: "I was kind of worried at first about what my parents would think. I explained to them what a pub was like compared with our bars back home."

"So my mother wrote back and said okay."

The family lives at 69 Rosewood Ter.

Carol's travels started when she went to study French language at a college in Nice, France.

"I had a hard time and found it difficult to make friends," Carol said.

Met Scottish Girl

"Then I met this Scottish girl, Jean Thompson, who was working as a domestic in Nice. We decided to hitch-hike to London."

In London, Carol and Jean got jobs as barmaids at the pub of John Patrick Gallen, a sandy-haired Irishman from County Cavan.

"I've never worked behind a bar before," Carol said. "The main difficulty was the English money. All those pennies and half-pennies."

"The pubs here are different. This is a neighborhood pub and a neighborhood bar in Rochester would be very dumpy. This would be a flash place at home. It has nice furniture and carpets and we have a three-piece band four nights a week."

Likes London

"I like London very much. The people are, well, normal. I found it kind of insane in France."

What of the future? "I'd like to see as much of the world as I can," Carol said. "I'm not ready to go back home yet and settle down."

A man with a red face came into the bar and said "pint of beer please, Miss."

Carol filled the tankard like an expert.

Daniel DeFore, author of "Robinson Crusoe," wrote over 400 books and papers.

In Oneonta Talk

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas deplores the fact that the court has become the final judgment ground of pornography because, he says, "it's all so dull."

Douglas made that observation Thursday during an informal session with students and faculty at the State University here. He also addressed an assembly.

Douglas also offered these opinions:

"The status quo in the world is intolerable for 85 per cent of the people. Fast revolutions must occur if their lot is to be improved."

"There is no way 'all the bombs and arms in the world can stop these uprisings."

"I only hope America can be wise enough not to default its leadership to Russia."

Douglas said civil rights would continue to be the major issue before the court.

Migrant Convicted
Of Manslaughter

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (RP) — A Monroe County Court jury early today convicted a 41-year-old migrant laborer of first-degree manslaughter in the knifing of a fellow worker.

James A. Smith will be sentenced Feb. 10 by Judge Harry L. Rosenthal, who presided at a four-day trial before a jury of 11 men and one woman.

Smith was accused in the Oct. 23 death of Melvin Collins, 36, at the Perzik Farm Labor Camp in the nearby Town of Clarkson.

Police said the two men had been arguing. Smith claimed he was defending himself.

CIPM Implements
Foreign Student
Training Program

NEW YORK, Twelve graduate students from seven developing nations on two continents now hold important temporary posts in American industry to prepare them for management careers in their native lands. They are International Enterprise Fellows sponsored by the Council for International Progress in Management.

Walker L. Cisler, chairman of the Council's Advisory committee on International Enterprise Fellowships, reported today that the dozen students are hard at work as the result of implementation of a proposal last year by Sol M. Linowitz, chairman of Xerox Corporation. Cisler, chairman of Detroit Edison Company, added that they will return to their own countries "after a year of meaningful management training" in diversified American corporations.

Early in 1965, Linowitz called for a year's on-the-job training in American corporations for students from developing lands enrolled in United States colleges and graduate schools. He specified candidates for degrees in business administration and engineering. The Xerox Chairman suggested that such training be given under a specific "International Enterprise Fellowships" program.

The program was part of a two-pronged proposal set forth by Linowitz in an address before the Council for International Progress in Management. He also asked that courses given to students from emerging countries be tailored by American business administration and engineering graduate schools to meet concrete needs in their native lands.

The council accepted the Xerox Chairman's challenge. International Enterprise Fellows have so far been selected from Turkey, Sierra Leone, India, Pakistan, Nigeria, Kenya and Ethiopia.

Gov. Picks George Yerry
For Board; Re-Names Bixby

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A labor leader who backed Gov. Rockefeller in the 1962 state election was appointed today to a $22,075-a-year job as a member of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Rockefeller named George E. Yerry Jr. of Kingston to the post. Yerry is president of the AFL-CIO Building Trades Council of Ulster, Sullivan, Delaware and Greene Counties.

In 1962, Yerry was chairman of a committee of labor-union officials who supported the reelection of the Republican governor.

The new board member succeeds Frank A. Gugino of Buffalo, who retired last month.

Rockefeller also announced the reappointment of R. Buxell Bixby of Hudson, former secretary to the Republican State Committee, a chairman of the State Thruway Authority.

Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo was reappointed as a member of that authority. The chairman is paid $19,500 a year and members $17,000 in the part-time posts. Mahoney was Republican.

Senate majority leader until defeated for re-election to the Senate in November 1964.

Bixby was named to a new term ending in 1975, Mahoney to a term ending in 1972.

Urges Periodic Checks

DETROIT — Periodic inspection of automotive cooling systems and preventive maintenance where required are necessary for proper protection regardless of the age of the vehicle or miles driven, Eric Beynon, Group Leader in Union Carbide Corporation, Consumer Products Division Automotive Laboratories, today told the Society of Automotive Engineers here. The engineers attending the 1966 Automotive Engineering Congress were given the results of a four-year survey by researchers for "Prestone" Anti-Freeze Coolant; the study involved 4,000 cars from 1962 through 1965. "Over 25 per cent of the cars tested required preventive or corrective cooling system service within the first year, and this increased to 47 per cent in the second year," Beynon said.

Announcement...

The Junior League of Kingston announces with regret that the Thrift Shop at 45 Crown Street will close after 15 years of business. We are happy to have been of service to the community and we appreciate all the cooperation and support the community has given the Shop.

The increase of general expenses, plus the great number of volunteer hours required to maintain the Shop, have reached the point where it is no longer feasible for the active membership of the Junior League to continue this project.

The Thrift Shop will close Saturday, January 29. There will be a Close-out Sale Monday, January 24 through Saturday, January 29.

ATTENTION THRIFT SHOP CONSIGNORS:

The Thrift Shop requests that consignors claim any unsold consigned articles between Monday, January 17 and Saturday, January 22. Any article not claimed by January 22, will be considered as a donation to be included in our Close-out Sale.

Weaver Appears Assured of Easy Vote in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert C. Weaver appears likely to have an easier task winning Senate approval as the first Negro member of the Cabinet than he did in 1961 as housing administrator.

President Johnson announced Thursday he would nominate Weaver as Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. Weaver, 58, has been acting head of the new department since its formal creation in November. As administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, he has directed the agencies now under the new Cabinet department.

Johnson said he would name Robert C. Wood, 42, chairman of the political science department at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as undersecretary of the new department. Wood headed a task force that advised Johnson on its organization and functions.

"I am very proud of this team," Johnson said. The nominations were scheduled to go to the Senate today.

Two Now One-Way

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of New York's most famous streets—switched to one-way traffic today and Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes said the operation "worked beautifully."

He stationed patrolmen at almost every intersection of the two thoroughfares to help motorists get used to the idea.

Barnes said one of the improvements immediately apparent was that drivers no longer had to "chase a bunch of buses down Fifth Avenue."

Gas Station Entered

Local police were notified today of a gas station burglary and theft of hub caps from a car. Sam Day's gas station at Broadway and Delaware Avenue was reported entered between 9 p. m. Thursday and 7 a. m. today, and $110 in a money bag was reported taken. A door knob on the Broadway side was reported pried off and a lock broken. William H. Clark of Route 5, Kingston, reported four spinner type hub caps taken from his car while it was parked in a Cedar Street lot.

Lindsay Defends

returned to normal after the painful and costly tieup. The full toll may never be assessed, but it is estimated at $500 to $800 million.

With the settlement agreed upon, the Transit Authority went into court and asked for the release from custody of Michael J. Quill, president of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union, and eight other union leaders who had been jailed.

They were arrested Jan. 4 for defying a Supreme Court injunction prohibiting the strike. Shortly after his arrest Quill collapsed and was admitted to Bellevue Hospital.

The eight men were released from the civil jail Thursday and Quill was released from the hospital Thursday night.

Within minutes after the TA and the striking TWU and Amalgamated Transit Union, AFL-CIO, accepted proposals by a three-man mediation panel Thursday, the first buses were rolling.

The first subway trains roared through the tunnels soon afterward, and by noon near normal service had been restored.

Less than 24 hours after the settlement a subway train rammed into a parked subway car in Queens and knocked it off the track and partially down an embankment. Four subway employees were injured.

Cost of the settlement is estimated at between $52 and $70 million over two years.

Fish Pledged 26 Votes at Po'keepsie Parley

Poughkeepsie's City Republican Committee at a meeting Thursday night pledged Hamilton Fish Jr., Millbrook, 26 votes in his support as the party candidate for the Republican nomination in the 28th District.

Four committee members abstained, and City Chairman Edward J. Filipowicz received one vote, but said he would not be a candidate.

The Dutchess County Republican executive committee will meet later this month to endorse a candidate who will oppose Democratic Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

Alexander Aldrich, of Columbia County, first cousin and executive assistant to Governor Rockefeller has the support of the Columbia and Schoharie County GOP committees and the executive committees from Ulster and Greene counties.

Fish has been endorsed by the Dutchess County towns of Poughkeepsie, Fishkill, LaGrange and Hyde Park and the city of Beacon.

County Fair Set

Carlton Conklin, Ulster County 4-H agent recommended to the board of directors that the 1966 fair be again held in Kingston.

No Kurdt Successor

Resignation of Albert Kurdt, former Ulster County Farm Bureau Manager and later executive secretary of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, who has served as manager of the fair for many years, submitted his resignation. Kurdt has recently been named assistant secretary of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets and will spend his time in Albany.

No appointment was made to fill the vacancy. The matter was taken under advisement and a selection will be made later.

Mayor Welcomes Fair

Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan today said he welcomed the 1966 County Fair to Kingston and said the grounds would be made available for the fair on the two days.

There has been some discussion on moving the County Fair to the County Home property at New Paltz.

At a recent meeting of the board of supervisors Supervisor George Majestic offered a resolution seeking to have the chairman of the board direct the Board's Farm Extension Service Committee, "work with the officials responsible for the County Fair to establish a permanent County Fair site at the Ulster County Farm located at New Paltz." Majestic pointed out that there was need for a permanent site and that the existing grounds at Forsyth Park had been "outgrown" by the fair. The motion was defeated 25 to 8.

Mental Board Meets On Resignation

A meeting of the members of the Ulster County Mental Health Board was scheduled for this afternoon at which time it was reported the resignation of Dr. William A. Wecker, director, would be requested.

It was also reported that should the resignation be forthcoming Emeline P. Hayward would again be named acting director of the Ulster County Mental Health clinic.

Skating at Kingman

The Kingston Recreation Department said skating is scheduled for Kingman Park. No skating was scheduled for the Shopping Plaza rink, it was announced.

MVB Office Open

The Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau office will be open Saturday, Jan. 15, 22 and 29 for the issuance of registrations only. The office will be open from 9 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon to accommodate those who are unable to get to the office for plates during the usual week-day hours. Commissioner W. S. Huitts has requested three Saturday days of the month in an effort to expedite the issuing of registration plates. Passenger cars must carry the new plates after midnight Jan. 31, while all other vehicles must display them after midnight, Jan. 15.

State Approves 28 Bridge Plan

ALBANY—The Public Service Commission has accepted as "practicable" a proposal of the State Department of Public Works to carry a portion of Route 28 across New York Central Railroad on a new structure to be built near Phenicia, in the Town of Shandaken, in Ulster County.

Route 28 extends from Kingston westerly to a connection with Route 7B near Oneonta. The portion to be reconstructed and relocated under a project scheduled to begin this year lies between its intersection with Route 28A, near Boiceville, and Woodland Valley Road near Phenicia.

At the point where the new bridge is to be built the railroad track parallels Esopus Creek. The new concrete and steel structure will consist of two spans and will have an overall length of about 907 feet. It will cross not only the railroad but also the creek and County Road 121 which is about 120 feet east of the track. The bridge will have an overall width of 33 feet and will carry two 14-foot travel lanes flanked on either side by curbs, safety walks and steel railings. It is estimated that the cost of the relocation project will approximate $850,000.

In a report to the commission, Examiner Stewart C. Boschwitz concludes on the basis of evidence received at a public hearing that the plan submitted by DPW is practicable. By law, such a finding must be made by the PSC before the project could be undertaken.

Ambulance Attendants Deliver W'dstock Baby

Saugerties Ambulance Service attendants "officiated" at the unexpected arrival of a baby boy born at the home of the infant's mother Mrs. Grace Webb, Ohayo Mountain Road.

Delivery of the child was by the ambulance attendants at 3 a. m. today and both mother and child were taken to Kingston Hospital where they were reported in fine condition.

State GI Killed

STILLWATER, N.Y. (AP)—A 23-year-old Army Private, Floyd W. Pohl of this Saratoga County village, was reported killed Wednesday in South Viet Nam, his parents said Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Pohl said the Defense Department informed them of their son's death but did not give any details immediately.

A letter they received from him on Wednesday said, however, that he was a radio operator with a patrol stationed about 40 miles south of Saigon.

Pohl, who enlisted in April 1965, was sent to Viet Nam in mid-December. He graduated from Hudson Valley Community College, Troy, in 1964 and had been employed by National Cash Register in Menands.

Chandler Quits The Continental Over Options

NEW YORK (AP) — A. B. (Happy) Chandler, former commissioner of baseball, resigned as commissioner of the Continental Football League today because of a fight with club owners over the use of optioned players.

Chandler, who was commissioner of the year-old circuit, warned the club owners at the Thursday opening of the two-day midwinter meeting that if they changed the bylaws to permit the use of optioned players he would resign.

The former baseball leader, who also has been Kentucky's governor and was in the U.S. Senate when picked for the baseball job, said he took the football post because "the Continental League will be the third major league."

He said use of optioned players by his league "was a sure sign that the Continental was a minor league."

His contract had four more years to go at an estimated salary of $30,000 annually.

Chandler said he would not hold the league to its financial agreement with him.

The club owners went into executive session immediately in their search for a successor. Coaches gathered in another suite for the draft. It was announced that they would pick only those collegians who had not been drafted by either the National and American Leagues. This was a complete about face.

Supervisors . . .

Rapp said, "The trustees thought it would be a nice gesture to name the library building for him," Rapp said.

At this point Supervisor Clarence C. Raible (R), 12th ward, moved that a vote be taken and his motion was seconded and the board proceeded to vote.

The vote on the resolution offered by the members of a Special Committee named by Chairman Charles Relyea to study the bids, was 31 to 1 in favor.

The Special Committee named to study the bids and make recommendations included Charles Relyea, Peter J. Savago, William R. West Jr., Roy J. Webber, Charles E. Phinney, Roger Mable and John J. Lucic.

On recommendation by the committee a resolution was adopted awarding contracts to the lowest bidders as follows:

Awards Are Listed

General Construction, Library Building to Robie Construction Corporation of Elmsford, N. Y. for $397,900. All Purpose Building to Swart and Larsen of Kingston for $150,790. Business Studies Building to Robie Construction Corporation for $330,700. Science Building to Robie Construction Corporation for $383,300.

Electrical contract for all four buildings and site work to Joe E. O'Connor, Kingston, for $156,890.

Plumbing contract for all four buildings to Bank Brothers of Accord for $83,130.

Heating, Ventilating and Air Conditioning all four buildings, to Tougher Plumbing and Ventilation Company of Albany for $137,250.

Mable Notes Increase

Minority Leader Mable (D), Esopus, noted that the value of the $100,000 given by McDonald Dewitt had been "by prudent investment" increased in value since it was given to $164,734, a 10 per cent increase. Mable also noted the Federal grant under the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963 of $829,012 and said he "hoped the trustees would get the maximum out of the money invested in the college."

He also noted that since the receipt of the Federal grant of $150,000 for future site development and $100,000 for lighting had been placed in the estimate of cost and he said he hoped the trustees would use some of the money for athletic equipment and development.

During the discussion Supervisor William R. West Jr. (R), Woodstock, said some of the $190,000 which was in controversy had been spent for roads, grading, a water tank and other engineering work.

Webber Defends Site

Supervisor Roy Webber (R), Marlletown said the Stone Ridge site was "the most beautiful site" in the area and noted that lands had been a gift to the college.

The resolution accepting the low bids also provided that after the contracts are signed by the chairman of the board and executed and approved by the county attorney, that the contracts and supporting papers be transferred to the Administration Office of the Ulster County Community College for further processing as required by the Housing and Home Finance Agency and Regional Office.

The resolution also directs that the Administrative Office of the Ulster County Community College be authorized to seek approval of the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the executed contracts to the end that there "might be issued at the earliest possible date to each prime contractor a Notice to Proceed letter authorizing the start of construction."

Bookmaking Charged

Charged with bookmaking, Harry Kundell, 54, Ellenville, faces sentencing on Wednesday, Jan. 26 before Police Justice Frank Decker in that justice. Kundell pleaded guilty and sentence was deferred pending a probation report. The arrest was made by BCI Investigator Charles Teelon and village police on a warrant issued by Judge Decker.

Burial will be in Walkkill Cemetery, Middletown. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

George L. Walsh

George L. Walsh, 71, of 25 James Street, Rosendale and New Jersey died Sunday at his residence, 114 Division Avenue, Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., after a long illness. He was the owner of an aircraft supply firm for many years and had celebrated with Mrs. Walsh their 50th wedding anniversary in April of last year. Mr. Walsh was born in Cambridge, Mass., and had lived in Jersey City before moving to Hasbrouck Heights 35 years ago. He had maintained a residence in Rosendale and was a communicant of St. Peter's Church, there. Surviving are his wife Mary (Lillian) Walsh, a daughter, Mrs. Raymond (Dorothy) Hoel and three grandchildren, George, Hope and William, all of Hasbrouck Heights. Funeral was held Wednesday with a high requiem Mass at Corpus Christi Church, Hasbrouck Heights. Burial was in Maryrest Cemetery, Darlington, N. J. Arrangements were by the Hennessy Funeral Home, 232 Kipp Avenue, Hasbrouck Heights.

Accountants to Meet Next Monday Night

The Mid-Hudson Chapter of the National Association of Accountants will hold its next regular meeting Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Hellenic Center, Poughkeepsie.

The meeting will be preceded by a social hour and dinner at 6 o'clock.

S. L. Land Dill, a partner of P. S. Landmark, Mitchell, Co., will address the accounts on Internal Control touching on the safeguards adopted within a business to protect its assets and to check the accuracy and reliability of its accounting data.

Dill's responsibility is the audit of security brokers and dealers in his firm's New York area.

To Broaden Welfare Aid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's plan to accelerate state-aid welfare payments to New York City will apply statewide.

The proposal, announced Thursday by Rockefeller, was prompted by a lack of welfare funds in New York City and to improve the city's financial position.

A spokesman for the budget division said Thursday that all welfare districts in the state will receive payments in March that ordinarily would not have been made until April.

In the past, the state has not made cash advances in March, the last month of the state's fiscal year. Instead, districts had been reimbursed in April for March expenditures and also receive the April advance.

The payment to New York City will total $31 million, Rockefeller said. No statewide total was available.

Equal Time for GOP

NEW YORK (AP)—All three television networks will give Republicans a half-hour next Monday night to discuss President Johnson's State of the Union message.

The President's address to Congress will be assessed by Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., and Rep. Gerald B. Ford, R-Mich., in a program taped for telecast by the Columbia Broadcasting System at 10:30 p. m. and by the National and American Broadcasting companies at 11:30 p. m.

William Davis Hawk Sr.

Funeral services for William Davis Hawk Sr., of 9 Grove Street, were held from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc. 296 Fair Street, Thursday afternoon with the Rev. Edwin C. Coon, pastor of Fair Street Reformed Church, of which deceased was a member, officiating. The services were largely attended by relatives and his many friends. Wednesday night members of the Couples Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church visited the funeral home in a body and extended sympathy to the bereaved family, led by the Rev. Mr. Coon. Also visiting the funeral home was the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church. Floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, completely banking the room. Bearers were Henry Riggins, Roland Fuller, George N. Betts and Robert Hicks. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Mrs. Rose Amato

Funeral of Mrs. Rose (Rosaria) Amato, wife of Frank Amato Sr. of Glasco, was held from the M. A. Galletta Funeral Home, 25 Ulster Avenue, Saugerties, Thursday 9:15 a. m. to 10 a. m. at St. Mary of the Snow Church, Saugerties, where at 10 a. m. a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. Charles Kaufman. Responses to the Mass were sung by Mrs. John Nau Jr. accompanied by Mrs. Charles Dickman, organist. Tuesday the Rev. Leo Martin, AA, called at the funeral home and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary. Thursday evening the Rev. Joseph Hamilton called at the funeral home and led the assembled friends in prayers. There were many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards, all attesting to the high esteem in which she was held. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights, Saugerties, where Father Kaufman pronounced the final blessing. Bearers were Michael Spada, John Greco, Frank Spada, Charles Greco, Thomas Spada and Thomas Greco, all nephews.

Raymond H. Lang

Funeral services for Raymond H. Lang of Summit Avenue, Hurley, who died Sunday, were held Thursday at 11 a. m. from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith Avenue. The Rev. Harold F. Schadevall, pastor of the Hurley Reformed Church officiated. Services were largely attended. During the repose at the funeral home many relatives and friends called to pay their respects. Many floral pieces and numerous spiritual bouquets were received. Wednesday evening officials and employees of the New York Telephone Company called in a body to pay their respects. Burial was in Mt. Calvary Cemetery, Saugerties. All fellow employees were George Freer, George Saehoff, John Cline, John Kuehn, Harry Gersback and John A. Cook. Honorary bearers were John A. Sanford, John H. Goerke, Al Mullen, William MacNair and Robert Davis.

Mrs. Theresa Clausi

The funeral of Mrs. Theresa Clausi of East Kingston who died Monday was held from the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany Avenue, Thursday 9:15 a. m. to 10 a. m. A solemn high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul at St. Colman's Church 10 a. m. Officiating at the Mass were the Rev. Vincent Brennan, celebrant; the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, deacon and the Rev. John T. Russell, sub-deacon. Responses to the Mass were sung by the church choir assisted by Thomas Berardi, organist. Many relatives, friends and neighbors called to pay their respects. The St. John-St. Liberata Society and its Ladies Auxiliary called Wednesday evening. The St. Colman's Altar-Rosary Society also called and with the assembled family and friends were led in the recitation of the Rosary by Father Brennan. There was a procession of floral tributes and numerous spiritual bouquets, all attesting to the high esteem in which she was held. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where Father Brennan gave the final blessing. Bearers were Thomas M. Clausi, Salvatore Cerulli, Richard Clausi, Joseph Clausi, Thomas Cerulli and Thomas D. Clausi.

Hobush to Head Commandery 52

Albert P. Hobush was elected commander of Rondout Commandery 52, Knights Templar, at its annual meeting Wednesday night in Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue.

Other officers elected were: Norman Swibold, generalissimo; Donald J. Bowra, captain general; Robert W. Avery, senior warden; William D. Markle, junior warden; George E. Radcliffe, prelate; Arthur J. Jensen, treasurer; Fred L. VanDeusen, recorder; Lemuel J. Boice, standard bearer; Robert A. Heins, sword bearer; Helmut Musal, warden, and Justin Bell, sentinel.

Richard W. Heffernan was elected trustee for three years to succeed himself and Sidney E. Friar was elected trustee to fill the unexpired term of the late trustee Chester H. Bonesteel.

Arthur J. Jensen had charge of the election. Tellers were Norman Swibold and Robert Heins. Reports for the year were read which showed that the commandery had enjoyed an active and successful year.

The newly elected officers will be installed at a public installation ceremony Saturday night, Jan. 22 by Frederick H. Staal, past grand commander of the Grand Commandery of the State of New York. A dinner will be served in the dining room preceding the meeting at 6:30. The public is invited.

Island Man Hurt In Rt. 28 Crash

Axel Paulsen, 36, West Islip, was injured at 7:30 a. m. today when the car in which he was a passenger was in collision with another vehicle on Route 28 at Route 375, Town of Hurley.

Trooper W. E. Wiedemann of Kingston Station, said Paulsen was driving a car operated by Roger J. Lahn, 36 of Babylon, when it was in collision with one driven by Clara Mandell, 60, of Broadview Road, Woodstock.

Paulsen was taken to Kingston Hospital by the West Hurley Rescue Squad. He was treated for lacerations of the right leg and head and a possible fracture of the pelvis. Trooper T. J. Crowley cited the woman for failure to yield the right of way.

At 4:15 p. m. Thursday, Lowell Smith, 25, Pine Hill, was driving east on Route 209 at Neighborhood Road, when his car skidded and hit a steel divider at the ramp. Trooper Thomas Searies said Smith received a bump on the head and said he would see his own physician.

King's Daughters Events Separate Functions in '66

Saturday, July 9, from 2 to 5
p. m. is the date set by the King's Daughters' Society of Shady for the annual fair at the Methodist Church Hall. The annual supper will be held Saturday, July 30, beginning at 5:30 p. m. in the church hall.
Tickets for the supper will be available at the fair July 9.

Holding the fair and supper on two separate dates is a departure from the usual custom, according to Mrs. Henry P.
Eighmey, president of the King's Daughters Society which held its monthly meeting Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. Arthur Stone in Shady.

According to the organization's president, it was decided to experiment with the idea of the two separate functions, in the hope that attendance at both would show an increase over previous years. It also was believed that attention and servicing of both events would be better if they were staged on different days.

22,000 Mile Trip Topic of Program

A Woodstock woman, who recently completed a 22,000 mile trip around the Orient in 24 days, will report on her trek at a Woodstock Reformed Church Guild meeting.

Mrs. Karl Cousins, who—with her husband—spent most of November visiting Japan, Korea, Hawaii and Hong Kong, will speak at the Guild meeting at 8 p. m. on Tuesday, Jan. 25. The Cousins' flew a pre-chartered route in the company of 106 other Americans to visit Korean orphans supported by them in orphanages abroad. Meeting the orphans they have "adopted" was a "terrific experience," Mrs.
Cousins says.

The trip itself was an exciting one, and Ann Cousins' talk at the January meeting, in addition to Mrs. Eighmey, were vice president Mrs. Hugh Martin, secretary Mrs. Eugene Howland and treasurer Mrs. Arthur Stone.

The annual Christmas party held in the church annex in December was reported as "very successful, and enjoyed by all."

The February meeting of the King's Daughters Society will be held on Feb. 9 at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Hugh Martin on Route 212 in Shady.

Guild promises to be one of the year's most interesting programs.

Ann and her husband had a particular interest in meeting two particular orphans. The couple supports a 17 year old Korean boy of their own. In addition, one of their purposes was to visit with the 14 year old Korean girl supported by the Guild for Christian Service of the Woodstock Reformed Church.

For more than four years,
Karl and Ann Cousins have referred to Jung In Chai, a senior in high school, as "their" orphan.
They found him to be an unusual boy, who plans to go on to college. They were impressed, as well, with Jo Yung Shim, the orphan the Guild has supported for more than two years.

The Cousins' took many movies and snapshots on their trip and some of these may be shown at the meeting. What the talk will point up is that Korean orphans are not always tiny infants in need of help. The orphan supported by this local family is now a young man in his upper teens with interests in transistor radios and educational pursuits.

Full realization of the facts points up the far reaching impact of this orphan support program in the years ahead in Korea.

OCS Board to Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education of Ontario School District will be held next week.

Session is scheduled for Monday, Jan. 17 at 8 p. m. in the Phoenicia Elementary School at Phoenicia.

All residents of the school district who are interested in attending are welcome to do so.

Fruit or Vegetable?

Botanically, the tomato is a fruit but in the United States it is considered a vegetable for purposes of trade. It was so-classified in a decision of the U.S. Supreme Court in 1893, because of its common use in the main part of a meal.

Stillman Named Aide to Burns

Democratic State Chairman
John J. Burns today named John S. Stillman as his liaison representative with the New York Democratic Congressional delegation.

The delegation and Chairman
Burns are interested in developing the New York Congressional unit into an "even more effective and united block," Burns said.

There are 27 New York State Representatives, nearly 10 percent of the Democratic majority in the House.

In making the announcement,
Burns said: "The New York
Democratic Congressional delegation and I feel that by providing a better means of communication and collective action, our Congressmen can be of better service to their constituents and the entire state."

A prime aim of the delegation will be to offer united support for the objectives of President Johnson and his Great Society programs.

The delegation will conduct periodic meetings in Washington to discuss legislation, programs and New York State issues. The first such session, held Jan. 11, was attended by 23 of the 27 Democratic Representatives and Senator Robert F.

Kennedy.

Stillman, who lives in Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, is an attorney with offices in New York City and Washington. He was with the U.S. Department of Commerce from 1961 to 1965, serving as deputy to the Secretary for Congressional affairs.

He was a member of the New York State Bridge Authority from 1956 to 1961, serving as chairman from 1958 to 1961.
Stillman was Orange County Democratic chairman from 1964 to 1961.

Weaver Has Chance To Prevent Bad Dream

WASHINGTON (AP)—A man with a nightmare vision—of people struggling in thickly populated areas—has a chance now to prevent his bad dream from coming true.

He is Robert Clifton Weaver, 58, Negro, intellectual (Harvard B.S., M.A. and Ph.D.) and a man who knows exactly what he wants.

Tapped After Long Hunt

A few weeks ago a newsman asked Weaver, the government's housing and home finance administrator, whether he would like to be chosen the first secretary of housing and urban development, a new Cabinet post created by Congress last year.

Without hesitation, Weaver violated the immemorial, unwritten rule which decrees that a man reaching for high office shall say he has no such ambition but will serve if drafted.

"Yes," Weaver said. So President Johnson, after a long hunt for the right man, tapped Weaver Thursday. Chances look good for his confirmation by the Senate.

Weaver is a city man (born right here in Washington) but is no admirer of cities as they are. In fact, in many respects they appall him. He uses such figures of speech as man's spirit "strangling in slums." Unless more rational planning is done by men of good will and good taste, he says, megalopolis (big city to those of you who have forgotten your Greek) will become "the most gruesome-looking and costliest mess."

So now's his chance to tackle such problems as poor housing, almost impossible transportation, fetid air, overcrowded schools, lack of parks and greenery, and so on almost endlessly.

Weaver is a large, big-chested, unlined man, a chain smoker of cigarettes. He has what will come in handy — a sense of humor.

Grandad Was Slave

Weaver's great-grandfather was a Negro slave in Raleigh, N.C., who bought his freedom and came to Washington. The maternal grandfather was the first Negro graduate of the Harvard dental school, in 1869.

Weaver's father was a postal clerk. After Harvard, where he helped finance his education by odd jobs as an electrician, Weaver became a member of what the Negro press called Franklin D. Roosevelt's "black cabinet."

His government posts included adviser on Negro affairs in the Interior Department, director of Negro manpower in the World War II Manpower Commission, New York state rent administrator. He also has served as chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

An abiding interest of his over the years is improving the lot of other Negroes, by nonexplosive methods.

"Fight hard — and legally — and don't blow your top," is his motto.

year which starts July 1. Hearings on it will begin next week before the House Ways and Means Committee with Fowler as the first witness.

On Capitol Hill, economists often consulted in congressional studies of the national economy said Johnson's tax medicine looked like aspirin compared with the stiff dose poured in the first year of the Korean War.

The economists, who insisted on speaking without being quoted by name, said the proposals are by likely either to slow substantially the growth of the economy or to halt the decline in unemployment.

Inflation To Be Topic

One put it this way: "When the real debate begins before the congressional committees the argument is likely to be, not whether these tax raises are necessary, but whether they are enough to insure against inflation."

Neither the proposed speed-up in corporate taxes or the graduated withholding of personal income taxes would involve payment of more taxes, although they would increase government income by $3.2 billion and $400 million respectively in the next fiscal year only.

Restoration of 1 per cent of the automobile tax and 7 per cent of the phone tax would bring in about $1.2 billion each year it stays in effect.

The study of case histories of persons 16 to 20-years-old who enter correctional institutions through the Elmira Reception Center.

The governor said he also would seek additional personnel for the State Department of law to handle what he called "an increasing number of consumer fraud cases."

Such persons would work in low-income areas with neighborhood offices of the federal Economic Opportunity program, Rockefeller said.

'Dollar Averaging' as a Method For Systematic Stock Purchases

By ROLAND GOODMAN
Moody's Investors Service Distributed by NEA Special Services

"Systems" for stock investing may be as ill-founded as systems for winning at the roulette table. The gambler on the stock market is not greatly different from the gambler at the casino, and his chances of making a killing are about the same in either place.

There are formula plans for investing, however, and these should not be confused with get-rich-quick schemes. These plans aim to minimize the risks in the market's eternal fluctuations. The simplest is called dollar-cost averaging, or dollar averaging for short. Most plans are variations on this.

For dollar averaging to succeed, the investor should be prepared to put sums of money to work at regular intervals for a fairly long period, say five years or more. And the stock or stocks he chooses to invest in should have growth potentials. This is because formula plans depend on the tendency of good stocks to go up in price over a period of time, although they may run into spells of weakness.

The dollar-averager decides, for example, that he will buy $500 worth of a specific stock every three months. If the shares are at $50, he will buy 10. If they slip to $25, he will buy 20, and if they soar to $100, he will buy only five.

These three purchases would give him 35 shares for $1,500, whereas if he had bought 10 shares each time, he would have 30 shares for $1,500. The formula thus holds down the average cost of shares purchased.

The New York Stock Exchange's Monthly Investment Plan permits the small investor to practice dollar-averaging. As little as $40 can be invested each three months, at regular commission rates.

Board Claims Teacher Strike Illegal

Majority vote, the members of the Federation were authorized to withhold all services to the Board of Education beginning February 1, 1966. The Board's position, as announced by president Arthur H. Withall, is that the work stoppage approved by the Federation is an illegal act.

Mr. Withall stated further that the Board of Education will use all means available to it to keep the Kingston schools in operation.

The KTF president made the announcement to the Board of Education of the strike plans after last night's special meeting with committees from the two teachers' groups. Rust said that teachers will withhold all services according to a resolution passed Wednesday afternoon by the KTF membership.

"We have tried every possible avenue to show the Board of Education that a secret ballot election is legal, fair and timely," Rust said. "Sixty per cent of the current teaching staff signed a petition asking for an election. The Board continues to refuse to change its position."

"After exhausting every other means of possible settlement," the KTF president continued, "we have come to the end of our patience."

To Open Headquarters

In commenting on immediate plans of the KTF, Rust reported, "The KTF has set up a strike committee and will officially open a strike headquarters at the Stuyvesant Hotel, Saturday, Jan. 15 at 10 a. m."

Rust said he released the strike information after "another meeting with the Board of Education." He charged that the board refused to listen to the KTF appeal for a reasonable settlement. The KTF president said in a statement after the special meeting, that Ellsworth Johnson, board member, made a motion that the KTF committee "be removed from the meeting room" but the motion "died for lack of a second."

Johnson told The Freeman this morning that Rust's remarks were "inaccurate." He said the motion did not say this particular group (the KTF) be excluded from the meeting. "The motion was that those willing to constructively discuss the Teacher-Board, Liaison Plan which was the purpose of the special meeting would be welcome to stay, and those not willing to discuss the plan constructively, we might just as well do without," Johnson said.

The board member noted that Rust had just finished saying that the KTF was not willing to participate in the meeting but would "stay to observe," when the motion was made.

Issues KTA Statement

Salzmann, president of the Kingston Teachers' Association, today issued the following statement:

"While the Kingston Teachers' Association does not wish to engage in a public feud with the Kingston Teachers' Federation, AFL-CIO, the union, I feel that some issues need to be clarified."

He KTA does represent the professional staff with 253 members. We are willing at any time to publish a list of these people.

"The Association does want a stronger voice for teachers in the formulation and implementation of policy in the Kingston School System, including teacher salary and welfare. We feel we are making progress in this area through amicable negotiations."

Mable stated he had recently seen a report that had been prepared for the commission, which contained a listing of historic sites and buildings in the Hudson Valley recommended for preservation.

One of these sites was the Esopus Meadows Light House, located in the Hudson River off the Ulster Park shoreline. Unless steps are taken to preserve it, the lighthouse will be demolished later in the year by the Coast Guard and replaced by a steel pole type beacon.

A number of people were present from the Union Center area and extended discussions took place on two continuing separate local problems—disposal of old automobile "junkers" and the liquid manure from an automated chicken farm operation.

The Board adjourned until January 26 when it plans to meet, review and possibly amend and up-date several of the town's ordinances.

Presented Plan

"The Association has presented a plan to the Board of Education which could help to bring about reasonable solutions to our mutual problems. This plan was endorsed by our membership in a general meeting. The Association does not want to usurp the legal authority of the Board of Education through a collective bargaining election or any other means."

Salzmann's statement continued: "We cite the New York City transit dispute as an example of what could happen in education under a collective bargaining agreement with the union."

"In many of the statements and news releases by Mr. Rust, he has used the phrase 'the teachers.' I do not know how many teachers Mr. Rust represents—this fact has never been published. Since there are only 331 professional staff members in the Kingston schools, and since many do not belong to either the Association or the union, and since the Association has 253 members, then simple arithmetic shows that Mr. Rust represents a minority of teachers and not 'the teachers' of the Kingston School System."

Salzmann's statement concluded: "The Board of Education has been willing to discuss the issues. The union group will discuss only collective bargaining because this is the only way in which the union—a minority group—can gain control over the Board of Education and the majority of teachers. The Kingston Teachers' Association is opposed to strikes by teachers."

Wants Better Climate

Rust read a statement to the Board of Education at the special session after telling the board members that he appeared not only as president of the KTF but also as an individual "deeply committed to improving the educational climate of the Kingston Schools Consolidated."

Rust's statement followed: "My purpose in appearing and making this opening statement is to appeal to you to listen to the voice of reason and realistically discuss our proposal for a compromise solution to the impending educational crisis."

"We most certainly subscribe to Dr. Hoover's view that this is not at all the time for the Board of Education to attempt to implement its Teacher-Board Liaison Plan. We also completely agree with Dr. Hoover's contention that the best interest of the community's school children (more than 10,000) can only be served by finding some workable solution to the problem of board-administrator-teacher relations."

"Some workable solution must be found before the excellent educational reputation Kingston has enjoyed is destroyed. We are here this evening in the interest of peace, harmony, and an effective working relationship."

"The KTF general membership took specific action yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon. We have deliberately withheld release of this information so as not to prejudice tonight's discussion. Results of our secret ballot will be released to the press and radio after tonight's meeting."

Has Instructions

"Since I am the president of a membership organization, I am here tonight with their specific instructions. If the Board is unwilling to realistically discuss a secret ballot election then this committee is charged with appearing only as observers. We are ready to discuss compromise. Is the Board of Education ready to reach a workable solution?"

3 Teeners Charged After B'way Trouble

Three teenagers were charged with third degree assault and one of them was also booked for allegedly resisting arrest after reported trouble Thursday night on central Broadway.

Charged with assault were: Richard Cantwell, 17, of 43 Cedar Street, lodged by Gladys Siskler, of 490 Broadway; James LaBeaue, 17, of Spring Lake Trailer Park, lodged by Walter Middleaugh, of 37 Elmendorf Street, and John Brady, 17, of 136 Jansen Avenue by Jessie Siskler, of 490 Broadway.

NEW YORK (AP)—A boiling stock market pushed further into record high ground early this afternoon amid inflationary fears and a return of many small traders and investors.

The end of the New York City transit strike not only caused President Johnson to term the wage settlement inflationary but again made it easy for the "little fellow" to get to his broker's office by bus or subway.

Fears of inflation were fed further by such factors as the rise in sugar prices and a further rise in shoe prices.

The approach of the Dow Jones industrial average toward the "mythical" level of "Dow 1,000" was another emotional factor.

Teachers Get Support From Fire Fighters

Kingston's Uniformed Fire Fighters Association, Local 461, supports local teachers in their effort to gain collective bargaining with the school board, it announced today.

Lt. Hugh Greer, secretary of Local 461, announced that at a recent meeting it "unanimously adopted a resolution supporting the action of the Kingston Teachers Federation, Local 781, AFL-CIO, in their effort to secure an election to decide which group now representing teachers will be the one chosen to represent all teachers in collective bargaining with the Board of Education."

The fire fighters' group said it fails to understand the statement attributed to the education board, which said, "While collective bargaining may be appropriate in industry, we do not believe it is desirable in education."

The firemen ask: "Just what is that supposed to mean? Why is it wrong for the teachers, collectively, through representatives of their choice, to bargain in order to arrive at a contract or agreement with the Board of Education?"

"If two parties have differences of opinion, the conference table is to be desired rather than a bitter battle in which no one really wins and many may suffer. We ask the Board of Education to be fair and to hold an election to see who will represent all the teachers, and when this has been decided to grant collective bargaining rights."

Cong Action . . .

Sink Four Sampan

In the Da Nang area, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, two U.S. Marine jets called in by a forward air controller sank four sampans manned by government militiamen in the Thin Yen River, 20 miles southwest of Da Nang, after being told they were carrying Viet Cong.

Four civilians on the river bank were killed and 16 civilians and five militiamen were wounded. The Marines accepted full responsibility for the mistake, a spokesman said.

Sixteen Marines were injured, two seriously, when a mortar exploded during a training class at the Chu Lai beachhead 53 miles down the coast.

But nearby a Marine rifle platoon killed at least four Viet Cong and seized four 60MM mortars with shells in overrunning Viet Cong mortar positions 150 yards from the Leathernecks' forward lines. The casualties raised the Communist toll after four days of Operation Mallard to 18 dead. The Marines also captured 16 1/2 tons of rice.

Copter Forced Down

Viet Cong gunners forced down a Marine helicopter on a flight from Tam Ky to Da Nang, injuring one passenger, and an unidentified assailant shot and wounded the Tam Ky district pacification chief.

The guerrillas also ambushed a U.S. jeep on main Highway 1 six miles south of Da Nang Thursday night, inflicting casualties among U.S. and Australian advisers in the vehicle. The guerrillas fled before a Marine patrol arrived.

South Vietnamese forces turned the trick on a Viet Cong unit 7 miles south of Quang Tri City, in the country's northernmost province, and killed 14 Viet Cong in an ambush Thursday night. The government side took light casualties, a spokesman reported.

Three large Vietnamese army convoys successfully ran the dangerous Qui Non-Pleiku highlands without encountering any guerrillas. It was the first such success since the U.S. 1st Cavalry Airborne Division joined the South Vietnamese last August in trying to open up strategic Route 19.

Elements of the helicopter-equipped Flying Horsemen found a deserted Viet Cong village 25 miles northwest of Konum in mountains. They uncovered stores of ammunition, uniforms and radio equipment.

Operation Slows Down

Operation Crimp, the 8,000-man U.S.-Australian mop-up on the edge of the Communist Iron Triangle stronghold 25 miles northwest of Saigon, slowed down. For the first time since they set out last Saturday, the Allies reported no enemy casualties.

Viet Cong mortars harassed a government junk force near Ba Tri, 42 miles southwest of Saigon, but flare-lighted artillery strikes chased the guerrillas off. One junk was blown out of the water by a mine. Casualties were reported light.

With the fighting continuing in a low key, U.S. officials in Washington were keeping a careful watch for evidence that the Communists were deliberately scaling down their military operations. But sources in Washington said the North Vietnamese are using the suspension of U.S. bombing attacks on North Viet Nam to rebuild railroad lines and bridges between Hanoi and Red China which U.S. bombers had destroyed.

The bombing lull began its third week today. Secretary of State Rusk flew from New Delhi to Bangkok to meet Harriman, who has carried President Johnson's peace message to half a dozen foreign capitals. Rusk and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey met with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Thursday and Viet Nam presumably dominated the conversation. All were in the

Advised to Start Again

"I am 61-years-old, recently retired from the Treasury Department. I have $3,000 in the bank and own the following stocks in which I have a loss: Roan Selection Trust; Hycon; Holly Corporation; U. S. Air Conditioning. With these stocks perhaps I need a dog license. Can you suggest any switches?"

A) I am glad to hear from a man who can keep his sense of humor in the face of so unfortunate an investment experience. I use the word "unfortunate" advisedly, since you undoubtedly bought these speculative stocks with the honest belief that they might make money for you. This is rarely the case with your type of shares.

In my long experience the only investors I know who have made money in stocks — excepting professional traders and people with expert professional advice — have bought strong issues of proven value and growth and have stuck with them patiently. I would sell your present holding and buy Marine Midland yielding 4.1 per cent and General Motors, selling on a five per cent basis including extras. Q) "I bought Consolidated Edison, Commonwealth Edison, American Telephone, Edson, American Telephone, Al have declined in price. What is wrong with my investing?"

D.W. A) Nothing whatever, except timing. You bought three excellent stocks, which hold little risk and should enhance your capital over the coming years. American Telephone has been hurt by the proposed FCC rate investigation. Nothing very harmful has come to the company in the past through such investigations and I don't believe the coming one will prove an exception.

Tighter money conditions have temporarily lowered most public utilities, because normal institutional demand has dried up. This action in the past has proved to be merely a ripple in the long upward trend of the group. Hold your present stocks and I believe you will be very well satisfied over a period of time.

Transit News At-A-Glance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here is the transit situation on the first full day of subway-bus operation since the end of the strike:

Service—normal on both subways and buses, with full complement of 6,500 subway cars and 4,000 city owned buses in operation during morning rush hour.

Contract—two-year pact covering 34,400 workers estimated by city to cost $52 million. Union estimate is $70 million. Union's original demands, estimated by Transit Authority at $680 million, were reduced to an authority-estimate $216 million before the strike, and after the strike to $100 million.

Fare—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will seek $100 million in additional state funds to city, some to be earmarked to help save the 15-cent fare.

National impact—President Johnson says settlement exceeds his anti-inflation guidelines but Mayor John V. Lindsay's mediation panel disagrees.

Lions Will Honor Charter Members

A special meeting to honor charter members and the annual St. Patrick's Day party were announced as two important, upcoming events for Saugerties Lions Club this week.

The local club met Monday night at the Flamingo Restaurant on Route 9W to hear President William D. Brinnier name Jan. 24 as the date for a session honoring charter members. Brinnier pointed out that under the rules on Lions International, January is designated as Founder's Month.

In accordance with this principle, local Lions will honor founders of Lionism in the Saugerties area. At the same time, the event will provide an opportunity for club members to rededicate themselves to the aims, purposes and objects of the organization.

Albert Giannotti is in charge of the St. Patrick's Day party to be held on Monday, March 14. Giannotti, a past president of the club, is being assisted by a committee composed of William Farrell, secretary of the group, who has chaired the party in the past, and Ben Fein, another former chairman of this particular event. Members plan to invite their wives and guests to the gala affair.

Plans have been announced for a joint meeting with the Tannersville Rip Van Winkle Lions Club. This session will be held at Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl in February. Date of the meeting will be confirmed later by President Brinnier after he has conferred with John Hamm, head of the other group.

Treasurer Frank Greco gave a detailed report on various club funds, including: tail-twister's fund, aid to the blind fund, general and scholarship funds. He also advised that 1966 dues may be paid now, and urged members to make payments as soon as possible.

A resolution from the floor put the club unanimously on record as expressing their appreciation to Greco for the fine work he has done as treasurer over a period of two terms.

Joseph Wipper served as tail-twister for the meeting, which closed with the roar song led by Farrell.

College Choir Member Included on 7,000 Mile Concert Tour

William Benson, a Kingston junior majoring in history, is a member of the first bass section of the Wagner College Choir which departs Jan. 21 for a 7,000-mile, coast-to-coast concert tour.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Benson of 1008 Decker Street, Kingston. He was a member of the Kingston High School Choir and the Ulster County Community College Chorus.

The current tour opens in Albany, after which the choir will present 23 concerts in nine states and Washington, D. C., before returning to Manhattan for a Homecoming performance in Lincoln Center's Philharmonic Hall.

Directed by Dr. Sigvard Steen, the 65-voice Wagner College Choir is one of the nation's finest touring collegiate vocal organizations. Previous Wagner choirs have been acclaimed in Germany, The Netherlands, Canada and most of the continental United States.

A performance in Chicago's Orchestra Hall highlights the 1966 tour, which includes 10 concerts on the West Coast.

WILLIAM BENSON

The Lincoln Center concert will mark the 40th Anniversary of Dr. Steen's distinguished career as a director of collegiate choral groups, a career which saw him direct the famed Blue Jacket Choir of the Great Lakes Naval Academy plus choirs at Park Region College, Fergus Falls, Minn., Northland College, Wis., and Luther College, Iowa, before coming to Wagner in 1949.

'Teenage Barn' Is Being Scrapped; Last Performance Is Scheduled for January 29

Talented Kingston area performers who appeared on the popular "Teenage Barn" program in Schenectady, and those who were hoping to be scheduled, will be saddened to hear that the program will be taken off the air January 29th.

In a telephone conversation this morning with Richard Belkin, program director of WRGB-TV, The Freeman learned that lack of "Barn" sponsors and a change in programming necessitated the "execution."

Through the years, "Teenage Barn" has given aspiring performers an outlet for their talents.

In a letter to the Freeman Society Editor, Mrs. Ruth Turk Roth of 9 Phillip Street, Nassau, wrote: "The Barn is needed for our talented young people and all music teachers, dance instructors, music stores and equipment suppliers will be affected."

WEDDING OFF—UNCERTAIN WHO SENT WHICH PRESENT

Q—My daughter was to have been married in December and just one week before the wedding, the marriage was called off. Three weeks prior to the wedding, she was given a shower. After she had written thank-you notes for these gifts, she threw away the cards with the givers' names and she is not at all sure who gave what. What is the correct thing for her to do in this situation? May she keep these gifts?

A—The gifts must be returned. The only way out of her predicament is for your daughter to telephone each of those whose gifts she can't remember and say that before returning her gift she wants to be sure she returns the right one and would she please tell her whether she sent the table cloth or the cocktail shaker. If she sent neither, she will then tell your daughter what she did send.

To Show Her Appreciation

Q—I am a widow in the late thirties. One of the men with whom I work does a lot of fishing and as he knows I like fish, he often brings me some of his catch. I would like to buy him a small gift to show my appreciation. Before doing so, however, I would like to know if it would be a proper thing to do. He is married but I do not know his wife.

A—There would be no impropriety in giving him a small personal gift, such as something for his desk in the office, to show your appreciation for his thoughtfulness.

A Widow's Wedding Anniversary

Q—My husband and I have always remembered his parents' wedding anniversary by sending them a gift. His father died eight months ago and I would like to know if we should send his mother something this year as usual. My husband thinks we should but it doesn't seem right to me under the circumstances. May I please have your opinion on this?

A—I feel as you do that an anniversary present would be all wrong under the circumstances and only remind her more vividly of her sad loss.

Who pays for what at the wedding? The Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Wedding Expenses," answers this question in detail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of this newspaper.

Interest in Law Career on Increase At Vassar College

Interest in choosing Law as a career has risen markedly among Vassar College students, according to the Vassar Vocational Bureau. A poll of the Class of 1965 made six months after graduation revealed that twelve of its members are enrolled at law schools throughout the country, from Harvard to Berkeley. This contrasts with eight members of 1960 who chose to study Law and only one of 1955.

Perhaps some of the interest in Law as a career stems from a course offered by the Political Science Department entitled "Administration of Justice" which uses the case method of study. Professor Charles Gordon Post, who has taught the course for 21 years, says: "Despite the disadvantages of entering a profession largely preempted by men, I believe that the Law offers an intellectually rewarding and satisfying life for women, and that it admits of a relatively easy combination with marriage. And so I encourage any student inclined toward a law career."

The Class of 1965 report also gives overall continued evidence of the increased interest in graduate study. One-third of the 360 alumnae are engaged in full time graduate study in degree programs in accredited institutions, as compared with 15 per cent of the Class of 1955. At least 66 members of 1965, roughly one fifth, are already married. Married or single, however, very few are neither studying nor working. Thirty are teaching, eight are in the Peace Corps, and 124 more are engaged in a variety of paid jobs.

Assistant Prof Is Invited to Exhibit Sculpture, Pottery

Kenneth M. Green has been invited by Greenwich House Pottery and Sculptors to have an exhibition of his work from February 5 through March 2, 1966.

Mr. Green has taught ceramics at several universities, and is now assistant professor at the State University College, New Paltz.

His work is known nationally, having been shown in exhibitions in many parts of the country. Mr. Green's sculpture and pottery have also been selected for shows circulated by the Smithsonian Institution, the Everson Museum, and the American Federation of the Arts.

Mr. Green is represented in the permanent collections of numerous museums and private individuals. Examples of his work have been published in Craft Horizons, Interiors, Ceramics Monthly, Good Housekeeping.

The show will be open Mondays through Saturdays from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., Fridays till 9. The exhibit will be at 16 Jones Street.

About the Folks

Dr. and Mrs. Robert A. Weisman, who reside at 9314 Piney Branch Road, Silver Springs, Md., announce the birth of a son Michael Elliot, December 30th, at the Washington University Hospital in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Weisman, who is a staff fellow at the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weisman of 115 Wurts Street, this city.

Jacob Myers of 16 Oak Street, this city, is convalescing at his home. He underwent major surgery in the Benedictine Hospital.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Have you ever thought you just had to have a certain electrical appliance, then discovered you didn't like it or use it a tenth as often as you had thought you would? And wished you didn't have the darned thing taking up space and you had your money back—that you could buy something you needed more?

My sister and I have found a way to prevent this from happening, and to save some money. We swap or borrow each other's electrical appliances for a week or 10 days, and find out just how often we use them, and how well we like them.

For instance, they have a small baby, so she borrowed my blender to see whether it was practical for her to buy one—mainly to make baby food. She decided it was.

I thought I wanted an electric knife sharpener, but after borrowing hers for 10 days, I realized there was a dozen things I'd rather spend that money on.

This borrowing idea could apply to many articles—electric can opener, hair dryer, vacuum cleaner, waxer, etc. And, it sure would save on our budgets.

Dear Heloise: I find a child's skate board fine to kneel on and scot around the room for low dusting and wiping floors.

Irma

Dear Heloise: I never peel potatoes before boiling for salad. The best part of the potato is next to the skin.

While the potatoes are still warm, I use a paring knife to skin each one. This saves much of the potato that would ordinarily be thrown away.

If the condiments and dressing (whatever you use) are mixed with the potatoes while they are still warm, they will absorb the flavors. If you wait until they are cold before mixing them, the ingredients will not be absorbed into the potatoes.

Dear Heloise: For those who have a medicine cabinet with a metal bottom shelf, try putting self-adhesive shelf paper on it to either protect the shelf to keep it from rusting, or to cover on already rusted or damaged surface.

It washes easily, and always looks nice.

Carol A. Halverson

Dear Heloise:

Here's a suggestion for putting new covers on feather pillows: Insert two newspapers inside the new cover. Open one end of the old pillowcase, gently insert it between the two newspapers.

Remove the pillow, shaking slightly to make the feathers ease down into the new cover. Remove newspapers and stitch open end of new cover.

Less chance of flying feathers!

Pauline

Pauline, this is one of the slickest suggestions we've had yet, because the feathers will slide on the paper, instead of sticking to the material.

Port Ewen Unit

A meeting of the Port Ewen Unit will be held in the Port Ewen Methodist Church rooms on January 18 at 8 p. m.

Donald Slater, a member of the Board of Directors of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health and Guidance Counselor at the J. Watson Bailey School in Kingston, will be the speaker. Mr. Slater will explain the work of the Association for Mental Health, the Mental Health Center Clinic, and other facilities available to Ulster County persons needing them. The work at Middletown Hospital will also be shown with the use of color slides.

The Port Ewen Unit believes this program will be important and of interest to Esopus township people and cordially invite the public to this open meeting.

This meeting is but one of the nearly 30 programs being carried on by the speakers bureau of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health with offices at 27 East O'Reilly Street, Kingston, during winter and spring.

Young Republicans Planning Social; Cahill Is Chairman

Norman Fowler, president of the Ulster County Young Republican Club, has named Richard T. Cahill general chairman of the club's sixth annual cocktail party and dance.

The social is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 19 at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 9 p. m.

In conjunction with a new policy instituted by the club, an outstanding Republican will be honored at the party. This year's function will honor Jesse McHugh, vice chairman of the Republican County Committee and former chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

A record attendance is anticipated.

Junior League Is Closing Thrift Shop Here

For the past 15 years, the Junior League of Kingston has maintained a Thrift Shop at 45 Crown Street, this city, as a public service. It featured used clothing, bric-a-brac and other serviceable items.

On Monday, Jan. 3, the membership of the Junior League voted to close the shop citing increased expenses and overburdened volunteer help.

The closing will take place on Saturday, Jan. 29 with a close-out sale set for Monday, Jan. 24 through Saturday, Jan. 29.

There are many individuals throughout Ulster County who are upset about the decision to close. It is reported that the Junior League will be receiving letters of protest.

On the other hand, one frequent shopper told The Freeman this morning, that prices have been steadily increasing over the years and "it is no longer the truly low-cost shop that many of us have enjoyed."

The Freeman also learned from another source that the shop has a complete turn-over in merchandise at least every three months.

A statement from the Junior League of Kingston is in today's paper.

Candlelight Ball Will Aid Hospital Building Fund Here

Final preparations are being made during these next few weeks for the Candlelight Ball gala of the Kingston Hospital Women's Auxiliary. This year's ball, which will be black tie formal, will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Saturday, Feb. 5, from 9 p. m. Music will be by Peter Duchin's Orchestra.

Proceeds will be used in the auxiliary's work at the hospital and for the building fund pledge.

Arrangements are being made by the committee for a Cordial Party just prior to the dance at the hotel beginning at 8 o'clock to which all those attending the ball are invited. The candlelight theme will be used throughout the evening.

Tickets will be available beginning next week, and may be obtained from Mrs. Peter Corsones, or Mrs. Harold Finkle. Checks may be sent to Mrs. G. Numrich, treasurer of the ball.

Co-chairmen of the gala are Mrs. Arthur Hazenbush and Mrs. Herbert Gade. Others serving on the committee include Mrs. Ward Ingalsbe and Mrs. Frank B. Matthews, decorations; Mrs. Elbert MacFadden, music; Mrs. George Rifenbary and Mrs. Harry C. Seitz, publicity.

Role of Local YW Is Reviewed; Some Activities Listed

The January meeting of the Board of Directors was held at the YWCA Monday night. Devotions were read by Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey, president. After reports of committee chairmen there was a discussion led by Mrs. John R. Warren which covered the part played by the Kingston YWCA in the life of the city, state and nation. It was stated that the local YWCA, in many cases, provides services otherwise not available in Kingston. It is the aim of the Kingston YWCA to continue to expand both in membership and in activities and services in the community.

As shown by the report of Mrs. Roger Malloy, teen director, the YWCA is keenly aware of the needs of young people in the area and the teen clubs are very active. Mrs. Malloy announced that the Kingston YWCA will host the Tri-Hi Mid-Winter Conference this year on March 18 and 19. Members of the YWCA who can house two teenage girls Friday night, March 18, are asked to get in touch with Mrs. Malloy at the YW.

A report from Mrs. Donald B. Snell, chairman of the adult program committee, advised that classes for girls in the downtown area will continue in January. This has been a very successful program as it provides classes of interest to girls in this section of the city without the problem of transportation to the YW.

Miss Frances Maxwell, executive director, reminded members that the convention will be held in Rochester this year on April 22, 23 and 24. Detailed information is available at the YW. Miss Maxwell also called attention to the Bonus Day program on January 20 at 2 p.m. at which time Attorney Robert McKinnon will speak on making a will. It is felt this topic is of interest to women of all ages.

Miss Helen V. Bowen was welcomed at the meeting as a new member of the Board of Directors. The resignation of Mrs. Alfred Port was accepted with regret.

Also at the meeting were the Meses. James N. Bishop, Edwin C. Ooon, Peter D. Corsones, Harold F. Davis, John W. Hill, Samuel C. McCoubrey, Robert B. Murray, Herbert H. Reuner, James A. Taub and the Misses Jean B. Harvey, Kathryn L. Heavey, Louise R. Luther, Agnes Scott Smith and Mary H. Staples.

STYLED FOR SPRING—Simple wide-sleeve coat made from four pattern pieces was styled by Monte Sano and Pruzan from a cross-thatched pink, taupe, and gray wool tweed. ## Principal Speaker For K of C Dinner Honoring Ul. Dean Delivering the keynote address for a testimonial dinner honoring the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, dean of Ulster County, on Saturday, Jan. 29, will be Attorney Vincent G. Connelly.

The testimonial is sponsored by Kingston Council No. 275, Knights of Columbus, and Kingston Columbianettes. The gala occasion is scheduled to be held in the K of C Home on Broadway, this city.

Joseph F. Saccaman and Joseph Bruno are co-chairmen of the dinner. William F. Leehive will serve as master of ceremonies.

Mr. Connelly is a past Grand Knight of Kingston Council. He is also a past exalted ruler of the Elks Club and past president of Kiwanis.

Connelly serves as attorney for the State of New York National Bank, Kingston Consolidated School District, and the Ontario Central School System. Msgr. O'Reilly, who is pastor of St. Joseph's Church, this city, serves the Council as chaplain. A record attendance is expected.

VINCENT G. CONNELLY

During the uncrowning ceremony for Mrs. Anna Hoffman, retiring royal matron, the Rev. Robert Clement sang, "The End of a Perfect Year." She was presented with a basket of red roses.

The installation ceremony was conducted by Swan Brewster, retiring royal patron. Mrs. Gertrude Gifford was coronating matron, assisted by three Sir Knights of Roundout Commandery No. 52. Dr. Julian Gifford sang, "Bless This House" during the coronation.

A degree was given by the officers, and the royal matron was presented with a bouquet of pink roses.

Juniors Plan Dinner-Dance At Our Lady of Lourdes

The junior class of Our Lady of Lourdes High School is planning their annual dinner-dance for February 12, 7:30 p. m. to midnight. Their theme is "Northern Lights;" music will be played by Van Henry's orchestra.

Patricia Halpin and Gerald Flynn, co-chairmen of the dinner-dance, have announced the appointment of the following committee chairmen: Patricia Chocianowski and Robert Ward, decorations; Mary DeCaro and

Designer Doesn't Permit His Styles To Upstage Wearer

NEW YORK (AP) — Teal Traina, the designer who thinks "a dress isn't supposed to do anything for a woman," shows dresses that do plenty in his new collection.

Corrado Sammarco, seating; Shiela Durkin and Christopher Jenkins, invitations and programs; Joanne Periano and Gary Gyssek, photography, menu and publicity; Roselyn Jones and Frank Provenzano, bids.

He introduced his spring and summer wardrobes to the New York couture group Wednesday, pointing out that as a man he "looks what's inside the dress first."

"Most women left themselves be dominated by clothes," says Traina. "What woman wants to be unstaged by a piece of cloth? When the dress dominates a woman, the dress isn't very good."

Most women, he says, disagree with him. Illustrating what he calls a "soft touch," Traina put motion into skirts by using flares, tiny rib pleats and soft a-lines. Necklines were barely gathered, rolled, cowed and rounded. Traina's favorite evening gown is called an evening pinafore. Ruffled to an empire waist in front, it dips low in back leaving only a halter to keep the dress intact.

Marblettes Club

The Marbletown Marblettes 4-H Club had its first meeting of the New Year Jan. 12, at the home of Miss Katie Barnhart.

It was a business meeting and a discussion of the materials that could be used for projects this year.

JoAnn Conrad was welcomed as a new member. Other members present were: Cindy Raymond, Nancy Warren, Susan Dorfner, Elizabeth Cole, Susan Boice, Carolyn Civil, Wendy Rose, Katie Barnhart, Mrs. Elizabeth Barnhart, Mrs. Carolyn Warren, and Ruth Poenicke. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Jan. 19.

time this evening will be at 4:23. Mincha services preceding Kabbalas Shabbas will start at 4:30. Saturday morning services will start at 8:30. Rabbi Rappaport will speak on the topic—God and Kindness. Cantor Slomovits will chant the liturgy. Mincha services will start at 4:30 and will be followed by a discussion of the portion of the week—which will be from the first chapter of Exodus.

Sunday morning services will start at 8. Sunday school classes will meet in the Jewish Center at 10:15. The NCSY and Junior NCSY will attend a Torah Seminar in Newburgh. The bus will leave the Synagogue at 9:30. Reservations are still available by calling the Rabbi Sunday morning after nine. Maariv services will start at 7 p. m. in the vestry.

Talmud Torah classes will meet afterwards at 3:45 in the center. The Torah Study Group will meet Thursday 5:30 p. m. Topic under discussion for the week is "What changes are needed in Modern Judaism?" Boys and girls of high school age may attend. Weekday Minyan services will take place at 7 a. m. for Shachris and 7 p. m. for Maariv.

Dear Abby . . . Horrors!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Today I wore a granny dress to school. After lunch I was called to the principal's office. He had the audacity to complain about my dress. We have a dress code at our school and it doesn't say anything about LONG dresses but, in either case, the principal doesn't go by the dress code anyway. He makes all the decisions when there is a question. The thing that burns me up is you don't get yelled at for wearing SHORT, TIGHT SKIRTS, or even the boys for not wearing SOCKS, but I get yelled at for wearing a granny dress because it's TOO LONG. Tomorrow I will wear a real short, tight skirt and not one word will be said. Please print this and tell me what to do. I won't take this from him!

"GRANNY"

DEAR "GRANNY": My, what a short fuse you have! Don't provoke a revolution, but do suggest that the code be revised to include the granny dress. Whatever else may be said about it, it is certainly the most modest fad that has come along for teenage girls in a long time. And don't blame the principal for making the decisions when there is a question. He is the highest authority at your school, and the privilege is his.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law rarely buys a gift for anyone. She just takes the gifts people have given her, has them rewrapped and gives them to others. This has been going on for years, and everyone in the family knows this. I once had some lovely tea towels out, and one of my guests remarked, "Where did you get them? I gave some to your mother-in-law five years ago and have never seen any like them." One of her sisters gave her a beautiful nightgown, and the next year she turned around and gave it to another sister for her birthday! I gave my mother-in-law some stationery and dusting powder for Christmas last year, and this year she gave it to MY daughter! I now hesitate to put out anything she's given me (like a candy dish or ash tray) because I'm sure someone gave it to her and if I'm asked where I got it, what do I say?

AT A LOSS

DEAR AT: The problem is HERS, not yours. If anyone asks you where anything came from, tell them the truth. It is no reflection on YOU that your mother-in-law goes gift shopping in her own drawers.

DEAR ABBY: I have naturally curly hair that kinks and curls and frizzes when it's wet or damp or humid. I was told that if I gave myself a reverse permanent, it would straighten my hair out. Please don't tell me to go to a hairdresser because I have heard that they use a very strong solution that makes your hair break off. Thank you.

KINKY

DEAR KINKY: I would certainly not advise you to give yourself a "reverse" permanent in hopes of straightening your hair. Put your head in the hands of a top-notch hairdresser.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. J. IN ATLANTIC CITY: I would say if your man keeps you cool in the summer and warm in the winter, stocks plentiful cupboard, comes home sober right after work without having folded, spindled or mutilated his paycheck, you've got a prince. Take good care of him.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 14 — At the moment, relations between the United States and Canada are fairly cordial . . . diplomatically as well as economically. Yet there are stubborn problems facing our two nations whose common unforgotten border extends for nearly 4,000 miles.

Improving Trade Relations Both Canada and the United States have lately been making fairly substantial progress in lowering trade barriers. Thus they have opened the way to a freer flow of trade between the two countries. However, the situation is still far from ideal; common sense dictates that we continue to explore ways and means of securing closer economic co-operation.

In an age which, for all its promise, is still fraught with dangers and uncertainties, Canada and the United States must — for their mutual benefit and protection — strengthen by every possible means the historic, cultural, and economic ties that have always joined them.

Canada's Vulnerable Position

At times the U.S. shows signs of irritation because, in some instances, Canada seems to be holding back in the matter of liberalizing trade policies. There is a feeling among some Americans that Canada is dragging her heels, either because of excess nationalism or out of "sheer cussedness." A greater awareness of Canada's position in world trade would convince these pessimists that Canada is proceeding slowly toward freer trade with the U.S. . . . simply because she must.

If we took the trouble to learn more about Canada and what makes her tick economically, we would discover that she has an enormous stake in foreign trade. Her position, in fact, is vulnerable because she is more dependent on exports and imports than any other nation in a comparable world position. But the importance of foreign trade to the individual Canadian is not even appreciated, much less understood, here in the United States. Though the U.S. has 10 times the population of Canada and we carry on a vastly greater internal and external business, imports and exports are a far less consequence to the individual American than to the individual Canadian. The large stake of the Canadian in his foreign trade limits his ability to take risks in trade negotiations.

Chances of Economic Union

From time to time in this century there have been—both in Canada and in the United States—strong advocates of economic union. Such a union would provide complete elimination of tariff barriers between the two nations. It would also provide for a common currency and a common treasury. One of the best arguments in favor of economic union is that it would relieve Canadians of the necessity of ranging far afield to find markets for their products. It would also greatly stimulate the flow of U.S. capital into Canada.

But there will be no economic union between Canada and the U.S. at any time soon. It would not be a practical move now, simply because neither Canadians nor Americans are psychologically ready for it. One day there will be such an economic union; but before that time comes, a better foundation must be laid.

N. American Common Market

While strong ties of nationalism—on both sides—will delay economic union between the U.S. and Canada, the idea of closer business co-operation will not be permitted to die. Competent officials and business leaders of the two nations are constantly studying this whole relationship. The first big step toward such union could well be taken before very long.

Look for the formation of a North American Common Market by 1970 . . . sooner if Britain joins the European Common Market before then, thus leaving Canada out in the cold. Such an economic alliance between Canada and the U.S. will help mightily in the development of Canadian resources . . . and will also work to the benefit of the U.S.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

From time to time I receive interesting and informative letters from Mrs. Delia T. Shaw, of the Daniel Shaw Insurance Agency of New Paltz. She writes in part: "I want you to know how much pleasure your 'Do You Remember' column gives me." Her letter is dated Jan. 1, 1966, and she further writes: "Since you often mention old postcard views I am enclosing herewith some you might find of interest for your collection . . . since many of the lovely old buildings are just 'memories' having been demolished." Will describe the New Paltz cards real soon.

Another item Mrs. Shaw enclosed was newspaper clipping relative to "The Ulster County Gazette" of Jan. 4, 1800 which she received in one of her Christmas cards as it was in "The Miami Herald." Larry Thompson gave his entire column to the Ulster County Gazette of Kingston. It certainly brings no end of publicity to our city, as a city of historic interest.

If they care to come and see the old stone and brick buildings, they had better hurry, before the powers that be demolish many of them. From time to time camera fans are taking pictures of the cornice, the balconies, the dated buildings in Rondout. The Siller building in Broadway East has the date of 1867 on it. George F. Von Beck who owned, designed and built up Connelly, also built the Mansion House (in 1854) and also the former Yalium Building, both corner lower Broadway and The Strand. Those were the days of builders and not destroyers. Through the years their buildings had good times, and hard times, they stood up to the weather, and to abuse of man and time.

Of course the thing to do is to take the children to see the artificial old restored buildings at Williamsburg, Va. Our local history goes back to 1609 when Henry Hudson came up the river the first time. In 1676 the Senate House was built sturdy enough to be a Museum today. If one goes down Abel Street to around Ravine Street one can see steps on gables of old brick houses, as can be seen in old Germany, of saxes, trumpets and trombones that once existed in bands."

Alpert would allow that the Tijuana Brass brought trumpets back in style, and that was what he was after. His original concept was actually born at the bull ring in the Mexican border town for which the band is named — and where he never actually has played. "I was enjoying the Mariachi music between the bullfights, and I wondered why it had never become popular in the United States," he recalled, "I decided to cross the Mariachi sound with the pulsation of American jazz."

The combination has proved a heady mixture for Alpert, once a movie musician. His albums are selling in the millions; two are among the top three current best-sellers. He and the band have appeared on every TV variety show, and his concerts are sell-outs. Some long-sighted observers are predicting the Tijuana Brass is the greatest thing to happen to the band business since Benny Goodman first tooted his clarinet at the New York Paramount.

Alpert takes a calmer view. "Bring back the band business," he muses. "I don't know if anyone can do that. There will always be a few great old bands like Count Basie and Woody Herman. But I'm afraid the days when a Harry James could play one-nighters from coast-to-coast are gone forever."

"The economies of the music world just won't permit big traveling bands any more. But I do think there is a chance for new bands which are smaller and specialize in frequency sounds — seeking new patterns instead of the same color tones."

Bob's Yule Visit To Viet Will Be Feature on Tubes

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The television networks next week will wind up their mid-season debut season with the last new program moving into position on ABC's reshuffled schedule. It is British-made "The Baron," still another secret-agent series, and will have its premiere next Thursday (10-11 p.m. EST).

The next seven days, however, will not be without a few other special viewing interests. On Tuesday Red Skelton's CBS hour (8:30-9:30 p.m.) will be, for the second time, a two-man pantomime show with Skelton and Marcel Marceau demonstrating their skills. Also on that evening CBS will present the first of a two-part "National Health Test" (10-11), one of a series in which the viewers can grade themselves. The second part will be broadcast the following week, same time and spot.

Bob Hope's annual 90-minute Christmas show, consisting of film shot during his holiday journey to entertain military men in Viet Nam, will be shown on NBC Wednesday (9-10:30 p.m.), followed by a special program starring folk singer Roger Miller and guest David ("Man From U.N.C.L.E.") McCallum (10:30-11).

students to that make-believe exhibition of restored Colonial buildings at Williamsburg, Va. may be interested to see some of the old originals right in their own town. Rondout has no end of interesting architectural designs, like marble front structures, New Orleans fashion, with balconies, on West Strand.

Hyde Park no doubt will be real busy on Jan. 29, 1966—if it is nice weather, a the Roosevelt six cent first day stamp cancellation will be serviced at their post office. I am trying to think up some designs for the FDR envelope as it is so near home, and some of the readers asked me about it. The Fulton design I was interested in, of course, was because the Kingston Post Office did the work, and the original Clermont went nasced Kingston in 1807.

Two Nominated
From Ulster to USAF Academy

The nomination of 34 New Yorkers, two from Ulster County, for appointment to the service academies of the United States was announced this week by Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

The announcement covers appointments to the Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo., were Sidney P. DuBois, RD 1, Box 444A, New Paltz, and Gary M. Baglietto, 7 Ann Street, Ellenville. They are among the six candidates from which the best qualified will be picked for nomination through competitive examination by the Air Force Academy Admissions Board.

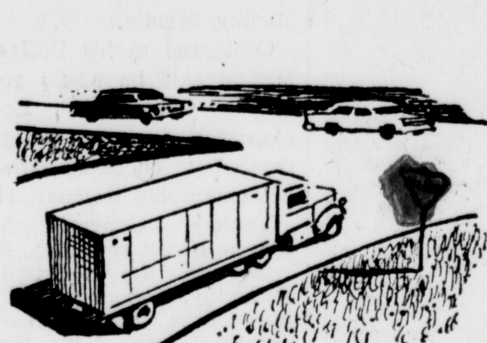

The senator's two principal nominees to the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., are Gerard J. Pisanelli, 50 Lake Street, Poughkeepsie, and Paul I. Herman, Great Brook Road, South New Berlin.

Under the rules of academy appointments, Sen. Javits this year nominated one candidate to the Air Force Academy; two to the Naval Academy; one to the West Point and 10 to the Merchant Marine Academy and alternates for each of the principals.

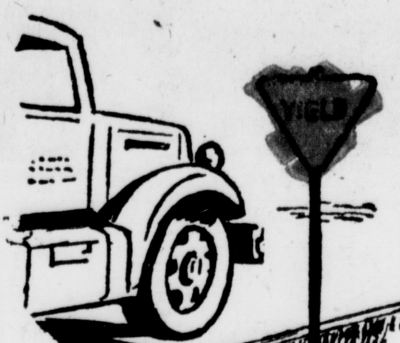

Others named were not from this area.

Just to Be Sure

Some drivers may be a trifle vague about this sign. Here, specifically, is what it means

At an intersection, traffic in either direction has right of way over the road or street with the YIELD sign.

Driver must slow down to be sure his progress will not interfere with the traffic flow.

He must STOP if necessary until the road he is entering is clear.

Will Issue Franklin D. Roosevelt Stamp Jan. 29

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien today made public the design of the Franklin D. Roosevelt 6-cent postage stamp. It will be issued with first day ceremonies January 29 at Hyde Park where the 32nd President is buried. O'Brien plans to participate in the ceremonies.

Design of the stamp is by Richard Clark, art director for a New York advertising firm. It is based on a photo made Aug. 15, 1941, aboard the battleship Prince of Wales, a day after FDR and Winston Churchill had signed the Atlantic Charter. Clark found a newspaper reproduction while researching in the New York Public Library, and World Wide Photos, Inc. of New York, then supplied him with a print.

Picture engraving is by Joseph S. Creamer Jr., and letter engravings is by Howard Sharpless of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The stamp will be brown. It will measure 0.75 by 0.87 of an inch, arranged horizontally and will be issued in panes of 100. The printing will be unlimited.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the postmaster, Hyde Park, 12538. The envelope to the postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers 6c Roosevelt Stamp." Cover requests must be postmarked no later than Jan. 29.

Will Present Awards

Six County Firms Among 28
In Safety Campaign Running

Twenty-eight area firms — six in Ulster County — filed 40 entries covering various departments in their industrial firms in the 41st Annual Statewide Accident Prevention Campaign which runs from January 3 to March 26, 1966.

The annual campaign is sponsored by Associated Industries of New York State, Inc. with the Mid-Hudson Industrial Association as co-sponsor. More than 650 firms engaged in 125 different types of employment participated in the 1965 campaign, recording a reduction in accident frequency to 5.4 per million man hours worked. The Poughkeepsie area, which includes Dutchess and Ulster Counties, in 1965 showed a total of 14,998,926 manhours worked during the 12-week campaign with an accident frequency rate of 4.33.

The 40-year record of the campaign has proven its value in reducing injuries to employees. Since the campaign began 40 years ago, the average accident frequency rate of the participants has been reduced from 22.5 to the all-time low of 5.3 in 1963.

Joseph R. Shaw, president of Associated Industries of New York State, Inc., said that awards engrossed with the winner's name and handsomely "pyraglased" are given for distinguished safety performances. A grand award will be presented to the 100 per cent award participant working the greatest number of manhours in his particular group and section; a special citation to each entry who participates accident-free for at least five consecutive campaigns; a 100 per cent award to each participant completing the entire campaign accident-free and certified of achievement for less than perfect but above average record.

The campaign creates an opportunity for top management to take an active part in their company's safety program — to let all of their employees know they are interested in their safety and welfare and at the same time let them know that their safety record is being compared with that of other companies in the state having the same accident hazard rating.

To Promote Safety

Also, the campaign is designed to launch companies on their year round safety program. Publicity, both on the local and state level given to the campaign and its participants, along with the report of standings published each month tend to vitalize the employees' interest in safety. The award banquet held after the campaign further creates a feeling of safety awareness and satisfaction on the part of all employees.

Benjamin J. Van Wickler, executive secretary of The Mid-Hudson Industrial Association, said that the promotion of the annual campaign is a public service that The Mid-Hudson Industrial Association has participated in as co-sponsor for 22 years. Sharing in the responsibility for the campaign here are G. Stuart Mansfield, director of employee benefits, Western Printing & Lithographing Co., and Arthur P. Lennon, Safety Engineer, Rock Industries, Inc., New City.

Participating firms include the following:
Beacon — Chemical Rubber Products Co.

Kingston — The Callanan Road Improvement Co., International Business Machines Corp., New York Trap Rock Corp., Nytralite Aggregate Plant.

New Hamburg — New York Trap Rock Corp., Clinton Point Plant.

Pawling — Pawling Rubber Corporation.

Poughkeepsie Firms

Poughkeepsie — Allstates Design and Development Co., Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., The De Laval Separator Co. (5 entries), Fargo Mfg. ## Record Enrollment

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Full-time students at colleges and universities in New York State total 338,300—a record enrollment says the Education Department. Of this total, private colleges accounted for 185,000 students. The over-all figure represents an increase of 12.7 per cent over the previous school year, the department said Thursday.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The economy will have to grow even faster if President Johnson is to achieve all his defense and "Great Society" goals without monetary inflation.

And some business economists may wonder if the proposed new tax schemes might slow the business boom a bit just when it is supposed to gather speed.

Boom Needed

The boom will have to furnish the U.S. Treasury with the money it will need to hold down a deficit that could be inflationary.

The government itself would be pushing the boom along. The President urges Congress to appropriate nearly $113 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1. This would pump perhaps $8 billion more government money into the economy than in the current fiscal year. If inflation is avoided, the new money would be a big help in keeping prosperity rolling.

But the President also counts on the business boom increasing personal and corporate incomes enough to furnish the federal tax collectors with considerably more revenue than this year. He also wants to get more revenue quickly by earlier tax collections. Together, greater prosperity and faster tax collections are supposed to give the Treasury around $6 billion more revenue than in the current fiscal year. This would hold the Treasury deficit just below $2 billion and thus help stave off inflation.

Earlier collections means withholding more from pay checks of individuals without changing his total tax bill, and ordering corporations to pay more of their income taxes before 1966 ends, rather than waiting until 1967.

Earlier Collection

The catch is that earlier collections by the Treasury will be taking money out of the economic stream in the months just ahead. This could more than offset the greater spending by the federal government, which often lags behind appropriations.

And consumer spending is the biggest prop of the current economic boom. Less take-home pay this year might slow down such spending.

Business spending for plant and equipment is a prop of the economy, too. Much of the outlook for greater prosperity in the months ahead has been built on the announcements that corporations plan to spend even more than last year.

Some economists fear that if the Treasury collects around $3 billion more in corporate tax this year, without affecting the total bill that would be settled eventually, some companies might be pinched for cash and trim their spending plans.

To Go Right Ahead

Other economists, however, think that business is more likely to go right ahead with its capital goods investments. It would go into the money market and borrow the $3 billion it otherwise might have had.

Mother of Five Is Victim of Blaze

WATERVLIET, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Sherman F. Galligan, a mother of five, died Thursday when her clothes caught fire in the basement of her home in this city north of Albany. The 50-year-old woman's body was discovered near an open door of a furnace. The fire was confined to the basement of the home at 1291 Second Ave.

Salient Tip

REVERE, Mass. (AP) — Police raided two homes while searching for stolen goods and found a large quantity of antiques, furs, guns, TV sets, Chinese swords, carved figurines and a cobra. The snake was in a box marked "Warning. Box contains poisonous snake. Will kill you in five minutes."

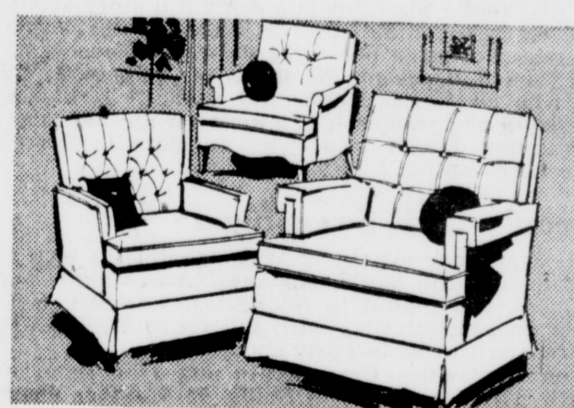

erwise might have available in its cash tills. The demand for loans already is high and growing, and interest rates have been raised and could go still higher. This, too, could chill some business spending intentions.

Kingston Visits NFA, New Paltz at Marlboro in Key Games

SITZ-MARKS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

Ulster county's two top ski clubs hit the jackpot this week. The Trail Sweepers Ski Club of Kingston is cited as the "Ski Club off the Month" in the January issue of SKIER, the official publication of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association.

The same issue carries a second item entitled "Rejuvenation at Rosendale", a fascinating account of the remarkable comeback of the ski jumping industry in Ulster engineered by the Rosendale Nordic Ski Club.

Miss Anne Schaefer of WBAL-TV (Baltimore), the magazine's merit judge authored the tome on the Trail Sweepers. It is the policy of SKIER magazine to spotlight one club a month and Miss Schaefer is the final judge on worthiness and eligibility.

• Skeptical Lady Convinced:

The article relates that a skeptical Miss Schaefer finally broke down under a bombardment of news items, photographs, dossiers, et al. Her early estimates that the Trail Sweepers barrage was padding, pictures and propaganda quickly melted as she pored through two large volumes of material.

"When I read them," Miss Schaefer writes, "I was particularly critical, prepared for the worst. Instead, I found love. Love of the sport of skiing and devotion to service. Love manifested by incredible leadership, cohesion and enthusiasm."

Miss Schaefer is lyrical about Trail Sweepers, nothing else. It is a well deserved tribute and we suggest you read it, if you can find a copy of the magazine.

• Like the Phoenix Bird:

Red Carruthers' article on the return of ski jumping to Rosendale, via the Nordic Ski Club, is a delightful story about the town, the early ski personalities and the Rosendale ski people of today.

It carries five large photos of the early pioneers of the Telmark era and a handsome likeness of William P. Curran, the attorney who heads the Nordic Ski Club. It is a story of considerable depth and reading it is a must for any ski fan.

The postman doesn't ring twice anymore in these parts. He just made an exception this month.

• Sharon's Trail Sweepings:

Sharon Stahl, our worthy correspondent is in high spirits this week. "Hang out the flag!", she says. Area skiers, impatient to hit the slopes, had reason to rejoice last weekend. Belleayre and Highmount opened Saturday with full operating facilities. Hunter also was reported to be in fairly good shape.

First on the trails—Craig Smith and John Ryerson at Belleayre; Cathy Rose and Lloyd Hollis at Hunter; Joan Course, Elaine Schwartz, John Fillipelli and Chuck Nile, among others, at Highmount. Mary Ann Plunkett and Karl Wollner did the Big Bear.

While home in Pennsylvania for the weekend, Don Drasler gave Elk Mountain, near Uniondale, a try. With one T-Bar slope open, Ski Patrol exercises were being conducted on one side, a race on the other—and spectators in the middle! Would you believe with all that, the lift lines were still a half hour long?

• Sweepers Keep Busy:

Several Trail Sweepers will be officiating in the Ricky Cramer Memorial Race at Belleayre Saturday. John Ryerson is head gatekeeper; Don DeKoskie and Dr. C. J. (Skeech) Goffredi, Eastern Alpine referees; Larry Gray, chief calculator, and Sarah Goffredi, assistant Gatekeepers and other helpers are still needed and should report to the upper lodge prior to the start of the race.

• Back Pats of the Week:

For Bob Roderick of the Rosendale Nordic Ski Club, who captured the Class B field in the 21st annual Torger Tokle Memorial ski jumping tournament at Bear Mountain. Quite a triumph—personally, as well as for the club.

For Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., a U.S. Olympian and member of the American Ski team now competing in Europe, for a tremendous first place victory in the men's slalom; a second in the opening Giant Slalom race of the Adelboden (Switzerland) International Ski Series. He was edged out in the Giant Slalom by a little more than a second by 22-year-old French ace, Jean-Claude Killy. Kidd's time was 1:47.73.

• Even the Pros Do It:

Condolences to Dick Whiston, a professional ski instructor and member of the Trail Sweepers Ski Club. Dick sustained a compound ankle fracture while skiing at Belleayre last weekend. Send him a get well card at Kingston Hospital.

Telemark, Wisconsin, the second largest ski area in the state, boasts of one chair lift, three T-Bars, 4 rope tows—all to service a whopping 400 foot vertical drop. Ruth Ann and Frank Almquist of Rifton spent the holidays in the midwest and got quite a bang out of the gentle, rolling hills called "ski slopes."

Said Frank: "Do you realize people in Chicago, which is 400 miles from Telemark, drive a mile for every foot of vertical drop they ski."

Maroon, Dukes Need Victories To Stay Alive

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

While Kingston High plays at Newburgh in a do-or-die DUSO struggle, the red-hot UCAL flag chase sends first place New Paltz to the lair of the Marlboro Dukes for a showdown battle. In the DCSL, league leading has a soft assignment against visiting Poughkeepsie High.

There are other DUSO games, though they are pale, by comparison to the "big one" at Newburgh: Liberty is at Fallsburgh and Ellenville at Port Jervis in village clashes and Middletown plays at Monticello in a City division contest.

In addition to the New Paltz at Marlboro tilt, Pine Bush plays Ontario and Highland is at Walkkill. Saugerties hosts Wappingers and Roosevelt visits Beacon to round out the DCSL slate.

A look at the top games and the standings:

Team	Won	Lost
Newburgh	3	0
Kingston	2	1
Middletown	2	1
Monticello	1	1
Liberty	1	2

KINGSTON AT NEWBURGH

A "must" one for coach John Gilligan's Maroon cagers. If they lose, they can kiss their pennant hopes goodbye. Newburgh has height, speed and scoring punch and is also favored on its home court. It will take a superior effort on the part of the visitors to upset the Goldies. A KHS victory will throw the circuit race into one involving three and maybe four clubs.

MIDDLETOWN AT MONTICELLO—A couple of weeks ago, this looked like an easy one for the Panthers. But the Middies have been coming on and they have the height to bother the home club. This could turn out to be a barn burner.

Team	Won	Lost
New Paltz	5	0
Marlboro	4	1
Ontario	4	1
Rondout Valley	3	3
Pine Bush	2	3
Highland	0	5
Walkill	0	5

NEW PALTZ AT MARLBORO

The Dukes are in the same position as Kingston. They must win this one to stay alive. New Paltz has won five straight in defense of its championship and is the team to beat. However, Marlboro is always dangerous on its cramped floor and has the horses to pull this one out. If so, the race will be a dogfight to the end.

PINE BUSH AT ONTARIO—This may be a tougher battle than it looks. The Indians reached their peak in beating Marlboro but then suffered a letdown against Saugerties. They must rise to the occasion and handle the visitors, who can be good and bad. Ontario is favored but must give an all out effort.

Roosevelt	3	1
Lourdes	2	2
Wappingers	2	2
Poughkeepsie	1	3
Saugerties	1	3
Arlington	1	4

POUGHKEEPSIE AT BEACON—The Beaconers are rolling towards a fourth consecutive crown and the Pioneers don't figure to stand in their way. Richie Lawrence is virtually a one-man team for Poughkeepsie but Beacon has several outstanding performers.

WAPPINGERS AT SAUGERTIES—Coach Bud Smith's Sawyers have won their last two in overtime and they always prove to be tough for the Fallsiders. If Saugerties can put the clamp on Jim Ruf, an upset is possible.

ROOSEVELT AT ARLINGTON—Both have been surprising—Roosevelt with three wins in four starts and Arlington with only one victory in five starts. This is a traditional rivalry and a close battle is predicted.

Tee Pee Turtles Lead in Pioneer

The Turtles also rolled high team series, 2526. Capri 400 Motel led team singles with 922. Individual leaders were: Tom Kennedy 245, Jim Sass 633, Alberta Longendyke 207, Marge Van Horne 528.

Kennedy led the male averages with 180 and Alberta Longendyke's 150 topped the women. Other averages: Jim Bianolo 176, Pete Warren 174, Jim Sass 169, Scot Fondino 167, Buckey Renn 167, Carole Mericle 144, Fran Lewis 143, Ellie Howland 142, Judy Smith 140.

Jack Sheeley bowled a 144 triplicate at the end of the half. (First Half Finals)

Mets' Biggest Bargain Traced To Wes Westrum's Sleuthing

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An off-season scouting venture by Wes Westrum may result in Grego Goossen opening the 1966 campaign as the No. 1 catcher of the New York Mets.

It was just one year ago that Goossen, one of the numerous bonus teen-agers in the Los Angeles Dodgers organization, was seeking to make an impression in the Arizona Instructional League.

The 19-year-old catcher made an impression—a deep one—on Westrum, an Arizona resident who was surveying the field in an unofficial capacity for the Mets.

Forced eventually to cut down to the player limit and unable, under the rules, to option Goossen to the minors without going through the waiver route, the Dodgers reluctantly put the youngster on the block for the stipulated first-year waiver price of $8,000.

The Mets, on Westrum's recommendation, grabbed him up. He may become their biggest bargain.

Had Excellent Year Goossen, optioned by the Mets to their Auburn farm club in the New York Penn League, had a what of a year. He not only batted .310 with 24 home runs and 84 RBI in 109 games, but impressed everyone with his work behind the plate, his strong throwing arm and his handling of the pitchers.

The husky youngster—he weighs 205 pounds and stands 6-foot-1—from Sherman Oaks, Calif., was brought up to the parent club at the close of the NYP season and was immediately put to work by Westrum, who had by then succeeded Casey Stengel as Met manager.

Nine pitchers, five infielders and three outfielders comprise the rookie squad that will seek to make the varsity next spring. Heading the list of pitchers are right-handers Dick Selma, Jack Hamilton, Bill Denehy and left-handers Rob Gardner and Dick Rustek.

Impressive Pitcher Selma, 22, pitched auspiciously for the Mets after being brought up from Buffalo last fall. One of his two victories was a 10-inning 1-0 shutout.

Gardner lost two decisions after his promotion from Buffalo late last season, but in a third start, pitched the first 15 innings of an 18-inning scoreless tie with Philadelphia. The 21-year-old speed-baller had a combined 9-4 record with Buffalo and Williamsport.

Hamilton is a pudgy 27-year-old purchased from Detroit after winning the International League ERA title at Syracuse. In addition to a 12-10 win and lost record and a 2.42 ERA, Hamilton pitched a no-hitter against the Tigers during the Florida Winter League season.

Denehy, 19-year-old, Middletown, Conn., prodigy, won 13, lost nine and posted a 2.78 ERA at Auburn in his first year of pro ball.

Stanky Liked Him Rustek, 24, impressed new Chicago White Sox Manager Eddie Stanky while the former Mets' director of player development supervised the Florida League operation. Bill Hepler is a slender 20-year-old southpaw drafted last winter after he had won 13 games at Geneva.

The outfield complement of new faces is comprised of Al Yates, Bill Murphy and Shaun Fitzmaurice. Yates, 20, batted .335 with 20 home runs at Auburn; Fitzmaurice, 23-year-old bonus boy from Notre Dame, hit .262 at Williamsport, and the 21-year-old Murphy was drafted from the New York Yankee Binghamton farm club where he batted .291 with 18 home runs and 85 runs batted in.

Ulster Cagers Home Against Adirondack

Adirondack Community College will provide the opposition at 8 o'clock tonight at the Municipal Auditorium as Ulster Community College unbeaten cagers seek their 10th straight victory.

Coach Mike Perry's five defeated the State University Frosh, 88-61, in its latest start on Saturday. Tonight's contest is the first of successive games for the Senators. They journey to St. John's of Calicoon for a Saturday tilt.

This is the first meeting of the season for the Senators against Adirondack. Ulster topped St. Joseph's, 100-56, in a game last month at the Auditorium.

Allen Moves Up Contract Time

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rich Allen, who knocked Frank Thomas off the Philadelphia roster and 15 errors off his record last season, now has knocked about two months off his labor negotiations.

Allen, the Phillies' All-Star third baseman, agreed to a new contract Thursday, which puts him some two months ahead of 1965 when he was a holdout until 10 days after the start of spring training.

The 23-year-old Allen said he was very satisfied with his 1965 contract, a feeling that contrasts with his disagreement with the Phillies last year.

At that time he felt the Phillies didn't want to pay him enough for the record he compiled as the National League's Rookie of the Year in 1964.

In his first year, he batted .318, hit 29 homers and drove in 91 runs. He also committed 41 errors, the most by a third baseman in 23 years. Last season he hit .302, posted 20 homers and knocked in 85 runs.

Fielding Improves But while his batting marks were going down, his fielding average was going up. He made just 26 errors, raising his average from .921 to .943.

En route to that performance, however, Allen also raised a pre-game fuss one Saturday night last July when he got into a fight with teammate Thomas.

The flare-up resulted from an exchange of words during batting practice. Allen punched Thomas in the mouth, and Thomas retaliated by taking a swing at Allen with his bat.

Teammates quickly broke up the scuffle, and the Phillies decided to break up the pair. They told Thomas after the game that he had been released on waivers "for the best interest of the club."

Another Phillie, pitcher Jim

Bunning, also signed his contract Thursday. Bunning had a 19-9 record last season with a 2.60 earned run average.

Other signings included pitcher Pete Mikkelsen and catcher Jesse Gonder of Pittsburgh, pitcher Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees, pitcher Dick Stigman and outfielder Bob Allison of Minnesota, pitcher Phil Ortega of Washington and catcher Joe Azcue and outfielder Leon Wagner of Cleveland.

Career in Jeopardy?

Mantle Is Concerned With Shoulder Injury

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A mysterious shoulder injury that could curtail his baseball career is a matter of serious concern to New York Yankee baseball star Mickey Mantle.

Contacted at his Dallas home, Mantle said he would go to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., early next week for a three-day check-up which will determine his baseball future.

Yankee General Manager Ralph Houk revealed the new injury to the baseball great Thursday, announcing at the same time that southpaw Whitey Ford, ace of the New York pitching staff, had signed his contract for next season.

Ford reportedly signed for $60,000, the same money he received last year when his season record was 16-13. Mantle said he is taking the injury seriously, but indicated he would not actually know what it means to him until the check-up is completed.

"If I am physically able to play and won't embarrass the fans, I desperately want to play another year," Mantle said.

Mantle's legs and a knee injury have troubled him for several seasons, but he said his legs are in "good shape." He said he has been playing golf and running to get into condition for the approaching season.

Mantle said he did not know what caused the injury, but said that he "aggravated" it while playing touch football with his children on Christmas, 1964.

Mantle said the shoulder injury bothered him some during the 1965 season. He only played in 122 games last year, batted .256, hit 19 homers and had only 46 RBI.

Drake Upsets Bradley On Home Court, 75-66

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The old song goes "I wish I was in Peoria." But the Bradley Braves undoubtedly wish Drake had been somewhere else.

Drake, which lost 64-52 to Bradley last Saturday at Des Moines, Iowa, invaded the Illinois home of the fifth-ranked Braves Thursday night and upset them 75-66.

Brigham Young, No. 7 in The Associated Press poll, also came a cropper, bowing 81-78 to New Mexico at Albuquerque, N.M.

The only other member of the Top Ten to see action, Duke's No. 1 Blue Devils, badly scared before nipping Clemson 87-85 on the road Tuesday, found things more comfortable at home, trouncing Maryland 76-61.

Bradley's defeat was the first at home this season after 10 straight victories and left the Braves at 13-2 over-all and 3-1 in the Missouri Valley Conference.

The Braves, trailing 36-21 at halftime, fought back to tie it at 50-50. But then Harold Jeter hit on a pair of field goals to put Drake ahead to stay. Jeter finished with 21 points.

Brigham Young, held to only 28 points in the first half of its Western Athletic Conference game, rallied in the second half but could get no closer than one point, 66-65, to the Lobos.

Mel Daniels got 23 points and Ben Monroe 22 for New Mexico. Brigham Young, now 10-2, was paced by Dick Nemelka and Steve Kramer with 19 each.

Duke had a fight on its hands for a while at Durham, N.C., before winning its 11th straight for a 12-1 over-all record and a 5-1 Atlantic Coast Conference mark.

With the score tied 35-35 early in the second half, center Mike Lewis got the Blue Devils going with three straight baskets, and Duke raced to a 72-47 advantage. Steve Vacendak hit for 18 for Duke, and Lewis added 17.

Hambletonian Eligibility Fee Due Saturday

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Final eligibility payment of $250 for 3-year-old trotters nominated for the Hambletonian, harness racing's premier stake, is due Saturday at midnight, Lander Van Gundy, secretary of the Hambletonian Society, said today.

He said 188 trotters still are eligible, but to keep them so, checks must be in the mail with no later than a Jan. 15 postmark. They are to be sent to the Hambletonian Society, P.O. Box 554, Lexington, Ky.

The $100,000-plus race will be held late this summer at the Duquoin State Fair, site of the Hambletonian since 1957. It is expected that some 75 of the nation's finest 3-year-olds will remain in the field following the final sustaining payment, with an estimated 15 or more actually going postward.

To become eligible, horses are nominated as yearlings for a $10 fee. A $200 sustaining payment is required on Jan. 15 of their 2-year-old year season and another $250 on Jan. 15 of these 3-year-old season.

A $2,000 starting fee is due three days before the race. The total purse for the 1965 Hambletonian was $122,245.

The actual date of the race will be announced in about two weeks.

Lions Gain 21st Straight Biddy Basketball Win

A new Biddy Basketball League season opened last night and the Lions Club picked up where it left off at the end of the 1964-65 season.

They turned back the Jaycees, 36-18, for their 21st straight victory, shutting them out in the second quarter. In the other game, Kiwanis won over K.P.A., 38-28.

Bill Haber led the Lions with 10 points. Vince Mapes and Al Williams scored 14 each for K.P.A. Three Kiwanians were in double figures—Don Williams 10, Pete Boyd 11 and Jim Ferraro 12.

Triple Tie Is Ivy Possibility

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Barring upsets, Ivy League basketball teams will take their break for final examinations with a three-way tie for the lead.

Columbia, 3-0, plays one game this weekend while Penn and Princeton, each 2-0, play two apiece. Victories in all those games would make each team four for four.

Columbia plays its lone game tonight at home against Brown, winless in three starts. The other two unbeaten also are at home, against winless teams. Princeton hosting Dartmouth and Penn playing Harvard. Dartmouth and Harvard each 0-2.

Failing to win tonight, the winless trio will try again Saturday night. Brown will be at Cornell, Dartmouth at Penn and Harvard at Princeton.

In the individual scoring race Penn and Columbia dominate the top five, Penn's Jeff Neuman is first with a 23.0 average and teammate Stan Pawlak is second at 22.5.

Stan Felsing and Dave Newmark of Columbia are tied for fourth with a 20.0 average while Harvard's Keith Sedlack is third with 21.0.

Melnick Scores 43 In Senior

John Melnick poured 43 points through the hoop to pace Port Ewen Methodist to a 91-33 romp over Grace Community Church in the Protestant Church Senior basketball League.

Trinity Lutheran was blanked in the fourth quarter by Church of Comforter but had enough working margin to eke out a 55-51 win in a companion game. Gary Houseman led Grace Community with 12 points. Brian Elmendorf potted 24 and Bob Millham hit 19 for the Comforters. Gene Smith scored 31 for Trinity Lutheran.

Royals Nudging Colts After Win Over St. Louis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fans in Indianapolis, Ind., saw the Cincinnati Royals in two acts.

The first act was an almost unbelievable one for the Royals — they hit on only 29 per cent of their field goal attempts, fell behind St. Louis by 21 points at one time Thursday night and trailed 63-45 at halftime.

But the second act was different as the stars moved front and center, and the Royals roared home for 107-102 victory over the Hawks to remain just a game behind the first-place Boston Celtics in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

There was no other league action.

Buffalo and All Stars Clash In AFL's New Playoff Format

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The two-time champion Buffalo Bills meet a one-week old All-Star team Saturday in the American Football League's All-Star Bowl — an old game with a new name that closes the season and opens a new chapter in football.

The game, which will be televised nationally by NBC starting at 2 p.m., EST, is a radical departure from the usual post-season All-Star game matching teams from the East and West and thus presents some intriguing situations.

"You've got a highly coordinated team like Buffalo playing against one that's only been together a week," said All-Star Coach Sid Gillman of San Diego in putting his finger on one of the situations created by the new format.

Agreed, admitted Buffalo Coach Joel Collier, but: "You've got a team like the All-Stars with highly qualified personnel — more qualified than any other All-Star team the league has ever had."

"There is no place you can let up on them."

And those are some of the ingredients which made the AFL decide in favor of the new set-up after four years of East-West battles. Now it will be the champions' pride and coordination against a vast amount of talent from the league's seven other teams.

Collier Debut
In addition, this first All-Star Bowl marks the debut of Collier, who succeeded Lou Saban when the AFL Coach of the Year quit for a coaching job at the University of Maryland.

Collier will have the same offensive weapons that were available to Saban as the Bills won the AFL championship — quarterback Jack Kemp, the league's Most Valuable Player, running backs Wray Carlton and Billy Joe and receivers such as Bo Robinson, Paul Costa and either Ernie Warlick or Ed Rukowski.

But Collier will have problems Saban probably never imagined — such as an All-Star offensive front four made up of Earl Faison and Ernie Ladd of San Diego and Kansas City's Buck Buchanan and Jerry Mays, a quartet that averages 6-foot-6 and 278 pounds.

The Bills also will have to contend with an All-Star offense that includes the league's No. 1 and 3 passers, San Diego's John Had and New York's Joe Namath, and the league's top three rushers, San Diego's Paul Lowe, Denver's Cookie Gilchrist and Oakland's Clem Daniels. In addition, Gillman has the other half of his San Diego running back combination, Keith Landoli.

Twaalfskill Elects O'Connor President

Joseph E. O'Connor of Lake Katrine, president of Joe E. O'Connor Inc., of 30 Grand Street, Kingston, has been elected president of The Twaalfskill Club Inc.

A long time Twaalfskill member, O'Connor has served on numerous committees and is one of the better players at the club.

Is KHS Graduate

A graduate of Kingston High school, O'Connor has been a prominent electrical contractor for many years. He is a past president of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and former director of Kingston Rotary. In addition, he is a member of the Blooming Volunteer Fire Co., Rosendale Grange and former director of the YMCA. He is a trustee of the Rondout Savings Bank and Rosendale Library.

Active in civic affairs, O'Connor worked on campaigns to raise money for Kingston Hospital, Benedictine Hospital and St. Peter's School in Rosendale. He is currently on the Advisory Board of the Benedictine Hospital and is a member of St. Catherine Labourer Roman Catholic Church at Lake Katrine.

O'Connor and his wife Muriel, reside on Mary's Avenue in Lake Katrine. They have a son, Edward, 21, a graduate of Boston College.

Tom Aaron Shares First Round Lead With 6-Under 65

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) —

Tommy Aaron, who led in the first round in 11 PGA golf tournaments last year, but never won one, and husky Chris Blocker, whose name may ring a bell with television fans, led the way into the second round today of the $40,000 San Diego Open.

The pair shot 6-under-par 65s in the first round, but a small army of rival professionals was too close for comfort as play resumed today over the par 35-36-71 Stardust Country Club course.

Blocker, a 195-pounder from Jal, N.M., is the cousin of Dan Blocker, "Hoss" of the Bonanza TV series.

Chris is starting his second year on the circuit. He won $1,400 in the Los Angeles Open last week.

Pennel broke the National Indoor pole vault record last week when he cleared the bar at 16 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

John Thomas, the Olympic medalist in 1960 and 1964, also is entered in the AAU-sponsored event along with more than a dozen former Olympic team competitors from the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Unknown Is Second

Unheralded Lou Graham from Nashville, Tenn., started today's round one shot back of the co-leaders and tied at 67 were Harold Rudolph, Paul Bondeson, Mason Kneese and Bob Zimmerman.

Wes Ellis Jr., the 1965 San Diego winner, rested in the 68 bracket in company with six fellow pros, including Mike Souchak and Don January.

Battling to snap out of the doldrums, Souchak shot a 32-36—68 and January a 34-34—68.

Bill Casper Jr., the local favorite, had a 70 and Doug Sanders a 72. Another San Diegan, Gene Litterer, also had a 72.

Farther back — far back in fact — was Champagne Tony Lama. It wasn't easy, but he managed to shoot 37-39—76.

Al Geiberger continued to play with a charm token pinned to his cap. It was a plastic blue-and-white bird, a gift from his 2-year-old daughter, Lee Ann.

The bird, according to Geiberger, was responsible for his $500-winning score of 65 in the pro-am Wednesday. And, it may be conjectured, it was responsible for Al keeping in contention in the first round with a 35-35—70.

Set Meter City International Meet Tonight

DETROIT (AP)—Pole vaulter John Pennel, broad jumper Ralph Boston and NCAA 440-yard indoor sprint champion Theron Lewis head the field in the first Motor City International track meet at Cobo Arena tonight.

Pennel broke the National Indoor pole vault record last week when he cleared the bar at 16 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

John Thomas, the Olympic medalist in 1960 and 1964, also is entered in the AAU-sponsored event along with more than a dozen former Olympic team competitors from the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Canadien Sent To Farm Team, Hits Two Goals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Red Berenson sent to the Quebec Aces by the Montreal Canadiens last week to work himself in shape is doing just that.

Berenson scored Quebec's first two goals Thursday night as the Aces beat the Pittsburgh Hornets on home ice in the only American Hockey League game.

A cut knee suffered by teaching his daughter to skate, put Berenson on the shelf for two weeks before he was sent to Quebec.

Berenson's second goal near the end of the second period tied the Aces and set the stage for Leon Rochefort's winner at 12:28 of the final period.

After Berenson sent the Aces ahead 1-0 early in the second period, the Hornets came back to take the lead on a pair of goals in the period by Andre Pronovost.

Utica Curlers In Contention

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Three Utica rinks are among five teams continuing play in the Mitchell Medal at the 55th annual International men's Bonspiel at the Utica Curling Club.

The five won matches in the top event Thursday.

Losing rinks move into Allen, Country Club or Dewar competition during the fourth event.

A total of 24 teams from New York, Pennsylvania, New Hampshire and Connecticut are entered.

Utica No. 4, Art Cobb, defeated St. Andrews, New York City, Linc Seibert, 8-2.

Utica No. 1, Dr. Bernard Kilbourn, defeated Quinte No. 2, Ontario, Charles Cox, 7-6.

Schenectady No. 2, Dr. Richard Neuber, defeated Hershey, Pa., Joe Eby, 12-5.

Utica No. 5, Chuck Raehm, defeated Kingston, Ont., Lorne Murphy, 6-5.

Dick Heffron led the Cortland quintet with 21 points.

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP) — Frank Karins and Tom Canastra combined for 28 points in the second half to lead Oneonta to a 78-71 victory over Cortland State's basketball team Thursday night.

Karins led the attack with a total of 24 points, 15 in the second half. Canastra, scoreless in the first half, hit for 13.

Professor, What do you consider yourself a moron?

Freshman—Well, not exactly that, sir; but I do hate to see you standing all alone by yourself.

Kiwanians Hear Aldrich on Move For Area Estate

Efforts to preserve the Frederic Church mansion on the mountain overlooking the Rip Winkle Bridge at Hudson, was the subject of a talk at the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by Alexander Aldrich of Chatham. Aldrich is one of the persons mentioned prominently for the Republican nomination for representative from the 28th District in this year's election.

Hutton to Head Group
Prior to the close of his speech, Aldrich revealed that George V. D. Hutton of Kingston will head a committee for Ulster County to solicit funds for the preservation of the Church mansion.

The Frederic Church mansion was begun in the 1860's by the famous American artist who died in 1900. Calling the place his "Eden," Church drew most of the sketches and plans for the house located on 300 acres of land high on the mountain in the vicinity of the Rip Van Winkle Bridge.

Aldrich said that Church completed his dream house in the 1880's and proceeded to fill it with curios from Persia and oil paintings, both created by himself and other artists. "He was the first ranking artist of his day," said the speaker.

Upon the death of the creator, the Church estate came into the possession of Church's daughter who carefully preserved the place as her father had known it. As a testimonial to the success of the daughter's efforts Aldrich remarked that the studio was maintained in such state that "Church could walk into it today and pick up his brushes and start to paint where he left off years ago."

About a year ago, the heirs of the estate decided to sell the property and furnishings at auction. A group of citizens interested in "showing what the 19th Century in New York State was like" asked the heirs to hold their auction in abeyance—which they agreed to do for a period of one year.

Also Shows Slide

"This is an emergency," said Aldrich, who revealed that the waiting period of one year expires April 1. By that time, according to Aldrich, a sum in excess of $400,000 would be necessary to acquire the estate and preserve it as a museum. Aldrich indicated that a little over half of this sum had been subscribed to date by those interested in the preservation program.

Alexander Aldrich accompanied his talk with slides showing the Frederic Church estate, the interior of the mansion, and also many of the famous paintings which Church had accomplished in the latter part of the 19th century.

Low Bid Announced For Napanoch Job

A low bid of $5,068 for fencing of the Eastern Correctional Institution Sewage Disposal Plant at Napanoch is among low bids totaling $3,389,332.04 on 16 projects for construction, repairs and alterations to State-owned facilities which were opened in Albany by the State Department of Public Works, it was announced today.

Superintendent J. Burch McMoran of the State DPW said that a total of 102 bids were received on the projects included on the letting. He said that the U. S. Steel Corp., of White Plains, was lower of two bidders for the Napanoch project.

Most of the projects and the largest amounts of bids involved were in Albany County.

Forecast Snow Late Sunday or Early Monday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts for Upstate New York, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau from Saturday through Wednesday:

Cold winter temperatures over the weekend. Some warming by early next week and another cold outbreak likely by middle of next week.

Daytime highs at the beginning from the single figures in the extreme north to the teens and low 20s in the south. Nighttime lows at the beginning from sub zero in the extreme north to 5 to 15 above in the extreme south. More normal levels by early next week.

A period of snow, possibly mixed with rain, over the more southern counties developing by late Sunday or Monday. More substantial precipitation than what has recently occurred is likely in this storm period.

Storm Weakens In Move to NE

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow, rain and sleet fell across scattered sections of the nation today but no severe storms were reported.

The storm in the Midwest which dumped more than a foot of snow in parts of Wisconsin and northern Illinois, weakened as it moved into the Northeast. However, fairly heavy amounts were reported in some areas, including three inches at Buffalo and Syracuse, N.Y.

A mixture of snow, sleet and freezing rain hit areas in high elevations of the Appalachians and northern Illinois, weakened as it moved into the Northeast. However, fairly heavy amounts were reported in some areas, including three inches at Buffalo and Syracuse, N.Y.

More rain splashed across areas from northern California into western Washington.

The severe storm which lashed Wisconsin Wednesday and Thursday was blamed for the deaths of 11 persons. Ten of the victims died of heart attacks while shoveling snow and one man died of a heart attack while brushing snow off his car. A fresh surge of Arctic air spread into the northern Plains and northern Midwest areas and dropped temperatures to below zero in parts of Minnesota and North Dakota and to near zero in northern Michigan.

The mercury dipped to 21 below zero at International Falls, Minn., and to -17 at Grand Forks, N.D.

Conviction Upheld

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — An appellate court upheld today the first-degree murder conviction of Richard M. La Belle, 25, of Troy, who was sentenced to life in prison for the rape-slaying of a 15-year-old girl. La Belle's brother, Edward, 27, also was convicted and sentenced to death. His conviction was upheld by the State Court of Appeals.

Two Regret LBJ Action to Restore Two Excise Taxes

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's two biggest corporations, General Motors and American Telephone & Telegraph, expressed displeasure today with President Johnson's proposal to restore excise taxes on automobiles and telephone service.

GM said restoration would be "unfortunate." AT&T said it "regretted" the President's proposals but recognized the nation's need for additional revenues.

Much of the business community, however, appeared to accept the tax proposals set forth in the President's State of the Union address Wednesday night.

Specifically, the President recommended: — Restoration of $1.2 billion in auto and telephone service excise taxes that were eliminated effective Jan. 1.

— A graduated personal income withholding tax on pay checks in place of the present flat rate. It would yield $400 million to the government sooner than under the present system.

— Advance payment of corporate net income taxes to yield $3.2 billion more quickly than the present system. The personal and corporate income tax proposals do not represent tax increases. Rather, they represent what amounts to prepayment of taxes on income to be received during a calendar year. Some states use the prepayment method on their corporate levies.

To Interview Applicants for Academy Posts

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-28 District) and members of the Congressional Academy Committee will interview applicants for the United States Service Academies from the 28th Congressional District today and Saturday.

Resnick last week made known his appointment of seven district residents to a committee to screen and interview the more than 40 applicants for the service academies in an effort to "remove the possibility of any political influence on the appointments." Members of the committee are: Mrs. Barry Jay Grandea, Poughkeepsie; William J. Walsh, Red Hook; Tom Waters, Kingston; Donald Downs, Kerhonkson; John M. Panek, Catskill; Theodore Yuskoff, Hudson; and Keith Rockwell, Esparans.

On Sunday afternoon Congressman Resnick will visit the weekend training assembly of the 2nd Battalion (Honest John) 156th Artillery at the New York State National Guard Armory, Poughkeepsie. He will present his impressions of Viet Nam and answer questions.

At the Newburgh Jewish Community Center Sunday night, Rep. Resnick will speak on "Viet Nam—Is There a Solution." Prior to the talk, sponsored by the Jewish Center Adult Education Committee, Resnick will be honored at a reception at 7:45. The speech at 8:15 is open to the public.

Today in Washington Likes His Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers says he likes his job and expects to keep it for the foreseeable future.

The 31-year-old Moyers took the post last July on what was called a temporary basis. His predecessor, George E. Reedy, underwent foot surgery, and now is a special assistant to the President.

The Washington Post reported Thursday that Moyers is actively seeking a successor, and the press secretary was asked about the story.

He said he isn't seeking a successor, expects to keep the job for the foreseeable future and enjoys the work.

TV Rating Improving

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Commerce Committee believes radio and television audience - rating systems are improving through industry self-regulation.

The committee issued a report Thursday saying government regulation "would not appear to be in the public interest at this time."

It said, however, "There can be no doubt that ratings constitute such a vitally important aspect of broadcasting...that the reliability of ratings and their proper use by broadcasters is and must remain a matter of serious concern to the federal government."

The committee conducted hearings two years ago on ratings systems.

Committee Appointee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Harley O. Staggers has stepped up to the chairmanship of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

The West Virginia Democrat succeeds Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., who resigned Thursday as chairman and member of the committee.

Harris has announced he will resign from the House Feb. 2 to become a U.S. district judge in Arkansas.

Capital Footnotes

The American Red Cross is seeking young, single, college-educated women for clubmobile work in Viet Nam. Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., plans to introduce a bill creating a court of labor-management relations to make binding decisions in disputes adversely affecting the national interest. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara approved a two-year extension for Adm. Ulysses S. Grant Sharp as U.S. commander in chief in the Pacific. The Defense Department reports 1,682 U.S. servicemen have been killed in Viet Nam since January 1961.

U. S. Court Reverses Mitchell Conviction

NEW YORK (AP) — The conviction of David Henry Mitchell on charges of dodging the draft has been reversed by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The three-judge court panel ruled Thursday that a lower court in Connecticut did not give Mitchell enough time to find effective legal counsel and ordered a new trial in District Court at New Haven, Conn.

Mitchell, 23, of Brooklyn was convicted last September and sentenced to 18 months to five years in prison and ordered to pay $5,000 in fines. The trial was held in Connecticut because Mitchell registered for the draft in Norwalk, Conn.

The Appeals Court decision, written by Judge Harold R. Medina, advised that Chief Judge William H. Timbers of the Connecticut court in Bridgeport, who presided in the original trial, "in the interest of sound judicial administration would be wise to reassign the case to another judge for retrial."

Loans for Five

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five New York State communities will receive loans totaling $105,775 from the Community Facilities Administration for public projects.

They are: Dundee, $12,200 for planning facilities. Nunda, $44,475 for planning sewer facilities. New Windsor, $33,300 for planning sewer facilities. Hammond, $10,900 for planning sewer facilities. Alden, $2,900 for planning water system improvements.

New Withholding Income Tax Scale To Start in May

WASHINGTON — The Treasury provided detailed breakdown of the graduated withholding tax rates it hopes can take effect May 1. For purposes of figuring income subject to withholding, personal exemptions are computed at $700 each even though they are actually worth only $600 when computing the actual tax to be paid.

For Married Taxpayers

If, after personal exemptions, the amount of annual wages and salaries doesn't exceed $200, no income tax should be withheld. If it is over $200 but not over $1,200, withhold 14% of the amount over $200.

If over $1,200 but not over $4,400, withhold $140 plus 15% of the amount over $1,200. If over $4,400 but not over $8,800, withhold $620 plus 17% of the amount over $4,400.

If over $8,800 but not over $17,700, withhold $1,368 plus 20% of the amount over $8,800. If over $17,700 but not over $22,000, withhold $3,148 plus 25% of the amount over $17,700. And if over $22,000 withhold $4,223 plus 30% of the amount over $22,000.

For Single Taxpayers

If, after personal exemptions, the amount of annual wages and salaries doesn't exceed $200, no income tax should be withheld. If it is over $200 but not over $700, withhold 14% of the amount over $200. If over $700 but not over $1,200, withhold $70 plus 15% of the amount over $700.

If over $1,200 but not over $4,400, withhold $145 plus 17% of the amount over $1,200. If over $4,400 but not over $8,800, withhold $689 plus 20% of the amount over $4,400. If over $8,800 but not over $11,000, withhold $1,569 plus 25% of the amount over $8,800. And if over $11,000, withhold $2,119 plus 30% of the amount over $11,000.

Tracks Are Cleared Week After Crash

BAINBRIDGE, N.Y. (AP) — The railroad tracks are clear in this small Upstate community today—one week after a freight train derailed, killing two persons and damaging a building.

Thursday, the center section of this village of 2,000 was evacuated when two propane tank cars were pulled upright and towed out of town. Authorities feared an explosion.

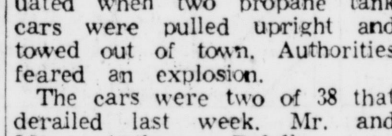

The cars were two of 38 that derailed last week. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Delella were killed when several cars flattened their house. The freight train also damaged a village office building.

Bainbridge police said Thursday night that shattered box cars still clutter the sides of the Delaware & Hudson tracks. Automobiles still cannot cross the tracks in the center of the village because of heavy damage to the grading, police said.
